FRENCH CONSUL IN L. A. SPEAKS AT KIWANIS CLUB

Declares Germany Is Not Acting In Good Faith Toward Allies

Louis Sentous, Jr., French consul in Los Angeles, was the speaker at yesterday's session of the Glendale Kiwanis club.

In his honor members of the club, led by O. W. Andersen of 360 Myrtle street, rose and joined in singing "The Marseillaise." "Herb Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue was the accompanist.

Brr Rabbit was introduced to the club by William Herz, caterer of the Broadway Inn. Mr. Rabbit was accompanied by strips of tasty bacon and fritters with a home flavor.

W. L. Truitt of 317 West Doran street was in charge of the program. He expressed his opinion that France deserves great credit for having overcome a number of serious obstacles in a short space of time.

Scores Germany According to M. Sentous, Germany is not acting in good faith toward the Allies, and especially toward France. He is positive that Germany could meet more of her financial obligations, if she were disposed to do so. As proof, he compared the action of France after the treaty of Frankfurt, which ended the Franco-Prussian War in 1871 with Germany's conduct following the Treaty of Versailles.

Although France had forty-five of her eighty-six departments occupied by German troops at that time and received no taxes from them, she was able to raise the enormous indemnity of five billion francs in gold. At the time the treaty was signed, her treasury contained only 500,000 francs or the equivalent thereof of $100,000 in American money.

"Now let us see what has been the attitude of Germany under the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, signed not only by the Allies but also by Germany," remarked M. Sentous. "The German government has consistently refused to pay any money due under that treaty—money, mind you, that do not represent a single mark of tribute imposed upon the vanquished by the victor.

"France has not asked a sin-

Woman Is Reported Missing From Home

Fearing for the safety of his wife, who wandered away from his home at 520 San Fernando road Thursday afternoon, W. Evans, local contractor, today applied to The Evening News for assistance. He thinks possibly that his wife has met with foul play, as she was in perfect health and without worries at the time she disappeared.

The Evans family arrived in Glendale from Taylor, Texas, four weeks ago. Mr. Evans scouts the theory that his wife might have wandered off while pining for her old home. The missing woman is 35 years of age. She is the mother of two children.

CIRCUS IN TOWN FOLKS! FEATURES SURE TO PLEASE

Tuesday Afternoon Club Members Stage Event at Local Elks Club

The circus is in town and it's not a three-ringed affair either, for, according to advance announcements and the opinions of those who visited "the grounds" at the Elks' club on Colorado street this morning, it takes a good many more than three rings to accommodate the countless tempting attractions of the Tuesday Afternoon Club Society Circus.

Oriental-clad maids with showers of vari-colored balloons made their appearance in the business district early this morning and promptly at the appointed hour the circus parade motored up Brand boulevard and back again to the clubhouse, where the various concessions opened for the early arrivals.

A tempting luncheon was served at noon and before and after the luncheon hour the countless booths entertained the gay throng of club members and friends.

Contesting for honors to-night will be the dinner and cabaret entertainment, and the psychic attractions presented by Dr. Jessie A. Russell. Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth is dinner hostess.

Exceptional talent is being featured by Dr. Russell's booth, where the past, present and future will be sketched by Senorita Carmen, Spanish palmist, who is coming for a time in California; by Signorina Amelia, Italian psychic, who is versed in modern Oriental science; and by an Egyptian crystal gazer. They are to serve patrons a few hours this afternoon and two hours tonight so that a long waiting line is anticipated.

All roads are leading to the Society Circus, which is to go down in Tuesday Afternoon club annals as one of the biggest social benefit affairs ever attempted by club members.

FRUIT CAKE PLANT PROJECT TOLD AT INFORMAL MEET

Matter of Locating Factory Here Is Submitted to Glendale Citizens

The Hazen T. Titus Fruit Cake company, famed as the most unique culinary industry in the world, desires to make Glendale the pivot for its operations by locating a factory in this city.

Does Glendale want it? This was the momentous question that was submitted to a score of public spirited citizens yesterday at an informal luncheon held in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce.

James Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, presided. He told the gathering in a few words that he personally was strong for bringing the Hazen T. Titus Fruit Cake company to Glendale.

"I have known Mr. Titus for a number of years," he stated, "and cognizant of his business ability and sincerity of purpose. I heartily endorse the movement of his manufacturing plant to this city."

To Advertise City Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, who was called on by Mr. Rhoades to deliver a talk, said that in his opinion the establishment of the Hazen T. Titus factory in this city would do more for the upbuilding of Glendale than any other conceivable industry. The value of Titus' fruit cake as an advertising medium for Glendale is unlimited, he said.

"It is now being shipped to all parts of the world. Every large hotel and practically all the big department stores in the United States and Europe will eventually be serving it over their tables and counters. They can't do it now because Titus' supply cannot meet the demand. In the near future fruit cake will be set before you on ocean-going liners and on transcontinental liners."

Against Annexation "I love Glendale and I want to see its name and its fame broadcasted to all the world." (Continued on Page 14)

Glendale Will Join Christmas Caroling

That Glendale will join other cities of the United States in welcoming Christmas day with caroling was decided yesterday afternoon at the Community Service music meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce and presided over by Richardson D. White.

Alexander Stuart, musical organizer for the community service district on the Pacific coast was also present and conferred with the representatives of the schools, P. T. A. and other organizations who responded to the call for the meeting.

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson was appointed chairman of the Christmas Carol committee and she will be assisted by Mrs. Harry McMullin and others.

Miss Eva Daniels is to serve as enlistment chairman.

Another meeting is announced for next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce, when Mr. Stuart will again be present and representatives from every choral organization in the city.

Paul Hutchinson Is Honored at College

Paul Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Hutchinson, 246 North Orange street, is the recipient of singular honors by the University of California, Southern Branch, where he is a student in the freshman class. He has been chosen to represent the university at its extemporaneous speaking contest between representatives of all Southern California colleges and universities, to be held December 12 at the U. of C. Southern Branch debating hall. This is an honor never before conferred upon a first-year man.

The reason for such an honor will be readily understood by Paul's Glendale friends, for they have not forgotten that it was he who won the cup for his high school in interscholastic debate, last year.

Miller W. Fishel Opens Golf School

Miller W. Fishel, former resident of this city who has been engaged at the Catalina golf course for the past two years, announces that he has moved to Los Angeles, where he is conducting a golf school. Since taking up golf several years ago Mr. Fishel has become one of the real stars of the game in the Southland, and is reported as one of the most capable instructors of the ancient Scottish pastime in Los Angeles. Mr. Fishel recently married Miss Ernestine Lyon of this city.

COMMUNITY CHEST IS PROPOSED FOR CHARITIES HERE

Committee to Investigate Plan and Make Report, It Is Announced

Glendale may establish a Community Chest—or a joint treasury for all local charitable purposes. The Glendale Kiwanis club, which met yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn, unanimously endorsed the suggestion of establishing a local Community Chest.

The matter was brought up by Lyman P. Clark of 246 West Colorado street, president of the club, who reported that the subject was discussed at the recent convention in San Francisco of California Kiwanis clubs.

Under this new system, only one campaign to raise funds for charitable purposes is waged in a community each year. The various charities are allowed a percentage of the receipts according to the importance of their work. Tag days and all other "drives" for charity are eliminated.

Works in Pasadena A. R. McGrath of 312 South Brand boulevard stated that the plan was working very satisfactorily in Pasadena.

A. L. Baird of 130 South Brand boulevard stated that he was heartily in sympathy with the idea.

Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway suggested that the Kiwanis club should co-operate with other civic organizations in establishing a Community Chest.

To investigate the subject a committee was appointed consisting of Mr. Nelson, Mr. Baird and C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue.

Community Chest campaigns are reported to cost only from two to six per cent of the contributions while small drives cost from fifteen to forty per cent.

Like Cash Register "What the cash register is to business, the Community Chest is to social betterment work," remarked Harvey Leebron recently. "The Community Chest records each gift, guards it, gives a receipt, eliminates possibility of fraud, prevents errors and then shows where the money goes."

Like a gigantic scale, the Community Chest estimates the worth of each agency, balances values with budgets, gives each agency a just share. It makes certain that worthy organizations will be supported and unworthy ones eliminated.

At the present time about 100 cities have some form of joint social service financing in operation. These cities range in population from 5,000 to 2,000,000. They raise funds of from 27 cents to $7.00 per capita. The number of their beneficiaries varies from 3 to 125. During the war more than 300 war chests were in successful operation.

Reveal Marriage of Miss Cecilia Lyon

The many local friends of Miss Cecilia Lyon will be surprised and interested to learn that she has recently become the bride of Harry Heber of Los Angeles. Although the wedding took place on September 27 of this year, the news has been kept a secret. The bride's mother is Mrs. A. S. Barnes of 655 North Central avenue.

Through members of the immediate family it was learned yesterday that the marriage took place in Riverside.

Mrs. Heber is one of the best known and most popular young women in Glendale, having lived here for the past twelve years. While attending the local high school, where she graduated in 1919, she was one of the leaders of her class, being class president one year. Since graduating she had been employed by a large Los Angeles corporation.

Mr. Heber, who is also known to a number of Glendaleans, is employed by an automobile company of Los Angeles. The couple have this week taken up their home at 985 Oxford street, Los Angeles.

Uncle John Says--

It was quite a surprise to me and Mary to read in the Los Angeles paper that Glendale wanted to annex to Los Angeles thirty to one. We've been home every day and nobody has been to the house to ask us how we stood on the question so we ain't counted with the thirty or the one. It hurt me to think we hadn't been counted at all after we've lived in Glendale so long and have helped to make it the fastest growing city in the United States. But Mary says: "Never mind, John, maybe we wasn't the only ones that wasn't consulted." However, I wait it understood that me and Mary are for Glendale now and forever.

OPENING OF BANK TODAY ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS

Financial Institution Now Transacting Business In Southern Glendale

Countless floral gifts, congratulatory messages, numerous first-day depositors and a constant throng of guests have been the gratifying features of the opening today of the new Community Savings & Commercial bank at 1726 San Fernando road.

Friends of the officers and directors of the new bank and residents of Southern Glendale who have long felt the need of a banking institution in the San Fernando road district, have anticipated with great interest the opening of the bank and responded heartily to the invitation to partake of its hospitality today.

Standing at the head of the administration staff of the bank is W. W. Leonard, president, also president of the Glendale National bank at Cypress avenue and Brand boulevard. Mr. Leonard needs no introduction to Glendale people for his success in the banking business has established a wide recognition for him in banking activities of Southern California.

Other officers and directors are equally as well known and assure permanency and active development of the new institution. John W. Logan is vice president. J. Wellman, cashier, and members of the directing board, Dan Campbell, chairman; Max F. Bayha, George H. Bentley, George V. Black, Arthur Campbell, Hubert L. Eaton, George B. Karr, W. W. Lee and W. C. B. Richardson.

Guests of the bank today were unanimous in their compliment to the quarters secured in the Orff building. The building was recently completed and the bank founders were fortunate in securing the extreme west room, which, in addition to being splendidly lighted because of architectural planning, also receives direct sunlight all day long.

Mahogany has been used in the bank fixtures, a desk and writing table, the entrance being located near the entrance, while a mahogany counter with dark marble insets at the windows and a low door leading into the offices has been built across the entire width of the room.

Great Cake Display In Pendroy's Window

Mother herself will have to admit that the Hazen J. Titus company has achieved what other individuals and organizations have been trying to do for years, that's making fruit cake as good as hers.

"Cake like mother makes" was the goal for which Mr. Titus set out for when he got the fruit cake inspiration and his success can best be measured by the wide recognition his product has received in all parts of the United States.

And now Mr. Titus has selected Glendale as the home for his fruit cake factory and extensive plans are now under way for building the plant. In receiving Mr. Titus into the business affairs of Glendale, E. C. Pendroy offered his fine corner display windows at the Pendroy store at Brand boulevard and Harvard street for an exhibit of Titus cakes and there Glendaleans today are afforded the opportunity of seeing cake of all sizes and shapes, some beautifully and artistically iced. Each is a real temptation and while no cake could be baked better than mother's, the Titus cakes are as good as mother's, and that is powerful good.

Mr. Titus spent this morning in Glendale and spoke most enthusiastically of plans for the new business home he is to build here.

The exhibition in Pendroy's window is well worth seeing. There are cakes of all sizes, one being marked "The Glendale Evening News" and another for the Tuesday Afternoon club. Other institutions are also honored. It is safe to predict that the display will attract the attention of the crowds this afternoon and tonight.

8-Pound Potato In Verdugo Woodlands

After reading in The Evening News last night about a four-pound sweet potato in an Ohio town and furnishing a meal for fifteen persons, J. F. Payne of Capistrano avenue, Verdugo Woodlands, walked out into his sweet potato patch this morning to find an eight-pound potato on his sweet potato "vine."

But that's not all of the story, for two weeks ago Mr. Payne picked a ten-pound specimen of the same "vine" and he says a nice juicy possum and one of his sweet potatoes would furnish a feast for twice as many people as devoured the Ohio product.

FORMER PREMIER CLEMENCEAU ARRIVES IN U. S. NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—France's famous war premier, Georges Clemenceau, the "tiger," arrived here today for a series of addresses in the United States by which he hopes to enlighten Americans on European affairs and bind closer ties of friendship between France and the United States. The gigantic French liner steamship Paris, with Clemenceau on board, passed Sandy Hook into New York harbor at 2:30 a. m. but the vessel was delayed at quarantine. At 7 o'clock, Jules Jusserand, French ambassador, accompanied by several attaches of the French embassy at Washington, reached the Battery and subsequently embarked upon a special tug to go down the bay to greet the famous old French statesman. Colonel E. M. House, a member of the American peace delegation in Paris, and Frank L. Polk, former under-secretary of state at Washington under President Wilson, were also on the tug. Many of the craft in the bay were dressed out in French flags, and the French line pier was crowded with prominent persons, large numbers of whom carried the French tricolors or wore it on their clothing. Plans for the reception of the "tiger" were singularly impressive in view of the fact that Clemenceau holds no office position and has not been in power at Paris for several years. He has retired from active politics. Clemenceau is no stranger to the United States. He formerly taught French in a girls' school in Connecticut and at one time lived in this city. Wireless advices from the Paris as she neared port said that the former premier was greatly excited over the prospect of his tour and was in good health and high spirits. During his stay in this city Clemenceau will be the guest of Charles Dana Gibson, the artist. It was planned that he should visit the city hall to get the official greetings of Mayor Hyman before going to the Gibson home.

FIRST METHODIST BROTHERHOOD IN BIG MEETING

Serve Dehydrated Products at Banquet; Rev Rasmus Delivers Address

Oratory and food were the two principal features of last night's dinner enjoyed by several hundred persons under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First Methodist church.

The meal was prepared in large part from dehydrated products: Prunes, string beans, loganberries and pumpkins. All present agreed that these products have an unusually fine flavor and cannot be detected from the same products fresh from the fields.

The importance of the dehydrated as a means of food economy and conservation was emphasized in a short talk by R. E. Ringrose of Portland, representative of the King Food Products company.

Hauling Water Seventy per cent of all agricultural freight hauled today consists of water, according to Mr. Ringrose. He said that it would cost about $8000 to get ten refrigerator carloads of apples from Oregon to New England, but that the same amount of dehydrated apples could be packed in one car and shipped for $200.

An exhibit of dehydrated vegetables and fruits was under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Pratt of Portland.

Several hymns were sung by those present, led by Dr. Joseph Marple of 215 West Palmer avenue. They were accompanied by W. A. Webber of 115 E. San Brand boulevard. Dr. Marple also sang several solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marple.

"We hope that during the coming winter the men of Glendale will find their places in the community and make themselves felt in the life of the community," declared George D. McGill of 1451 East Wilson avenue, president of the Federated Brotherhood.

Community service was outlined briefly by its local director, Don T. Orput. He declared that the movement was one to call for the co-operation of all the forces for good in Glendale which are willing to tackle the recreation problem.

Miss E. Barton Is Rescued From Flames

Miss E. Barton, an operator in a local beauty parlor, was saved from serious burns Thursday morning by the thoughtfulness of Miss Lilla Litch, who wrapped a curtain about Miss Barton to extinguish the flames on her dress, which caught fire from a gas heater.

According to Miss Barton, she was dressing Miss Litch's hair and, interested in her work, she stepped back too near a gas heater and her clothing caught fire and blazed up a half yard or more. At the time Miss Litch's hair was down and she had on a light filmy negligee, which would have blazed up quickly, but when she saw Miss Barton's dress ablaze she grasped nearby curtains and wrapped them about the blazing dress and put out the flames. In doing so her left hand was badly blistered by the fire.

Miss Barton was very profuse in her appreciation of Miss Litch's bravery and states that it saved her from serious burns.

Pacific P. T. A. Has Annual Fathers' Night

A comparison of the Russian and American school systems by Baroness Ottly de Ropp was the interesting feature of the program presented at the annual Fathers' Night entertainment given last night in the court of the Pacific Avenue school by the P. T. A. Baroness de Ropp, who with her husband, fled from Russia at the beginning of the war, spoke most entertainingly, giving personal experiences and reminiscences.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, president of the Federation of Improvement associations, spoke of the work of the associations and of the possibilities of such an organization in the Pacific avenue district.

During the evening singing was led by H. B. Tuttle and musical numbers given by Miss Gulick and members of the Junior Orchestra.

Miss Roberta Winans, community instructor, was introduced and led in a get-acquainted game and refreshments were served by the hospitality committee under Mrs. C. R. Colburn.

YALE-PRINCETON FIGHT UNDER WAY

Even Money Being Wagered
As Annual Clash on Gridiron Opens

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18.—The Princeton Tiger, at the end of the first half, in the annual football classic between Yale and Princeton, here this afternoon, pushed over a touchdown after Yale had repulsed the threat of their goal line. An estimated crowd of 55,000 wild-eyed fans turned out, under ideal weather conditions.

Score: Princeton, 7; Yale, 0.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18.—This quiet, little back country hamlet is a prominent hill of over-populated streets, lawns, by-paths and tradesmen's shops today as the thousands of the 55,000 souls who will witness the annual meeting of Yale and Princeton on the gridiron, bore down on the town and took possession.

Like long caravans of the desert, they came across the rural expanses of Jersey on steel rails and macadam in seemingly unending streams. Seen from the air, they must have appeared like a great family of worms, out to meet the early bird early.

Good Token, What?
Princeton men with an eye to sunrise effects were expected to note that the sun rose in the east, as usual, in a deep orange smear. That was a harbinger of good, a token, the y maintained. Yale men, on the other hand, pointed to the fact that patches of blue sky completely surrounded the orange. That, they intimated, was what the Yale team would do to Princeton today.

It is all a matter of opinion. Yesterday, the odds were 6 to 5 on Yale. Today they have switched to even money.

The Tigers are unbeaten to date, largely because some Princeton disciple of the Sam White club has been unable to snatch up opportune fumbles against Chicago, Harvard and Colgate. In other words, Princeton is betting that Yale will make the same mistakes that Harvard and others have; that, in short, Princeton is a team of destiny.

Lack Real Punch.
Lacking a real scoring punch, it must rely on deception, guile and an occasional fumble. Yale declines to play the part of stage juggler today the Tiger must get along on his ability to act the gay deceiver with his triple passes, his delayed bucks and his overhead attack.

Yale, in spite of an early season defeat by Iowa and injuries that seem destined to keep backs like O'Hearn, Mallory and Wright out of the game, looks like a better football team than Princeton. In fact, the Blue is so rich in material that it could lose its entire varsity over night and still enter the contest an even money choice.

Yale has the advantage in back field versatility and in the work of its forwards, as a whole, with end play and punting a close up. Princeton, however, feels that its backfield efficiency has been increased in proportion to the greater capability of Johnny Gorman over one Dinsmore as a field general. John is the young man who elects to throw forward passes whenever the spirit moves him. He is a gridiron radical, a gambler, who believes that Steve Brodie was, indubitably, a great man. Gorman was unable to play against Harvard because of injuries and it is held that Princeton's bunch was impaired twenty per cent thereby.

The probable line-up:
Yale Position Princeton
Eddy L.E. Gray
Miller Baker
Cruikshank L.G. Dickinson (c)
Lovejoy C. Alford
Cross R.G. Howard
Diller R.T. Treat
Deaver R.E. Stout
Neidlinger Q.B. Gorman
Neale L.H.B. Crum
Jordan R.H.B. Caldwell
Scott F.B. Cleaves

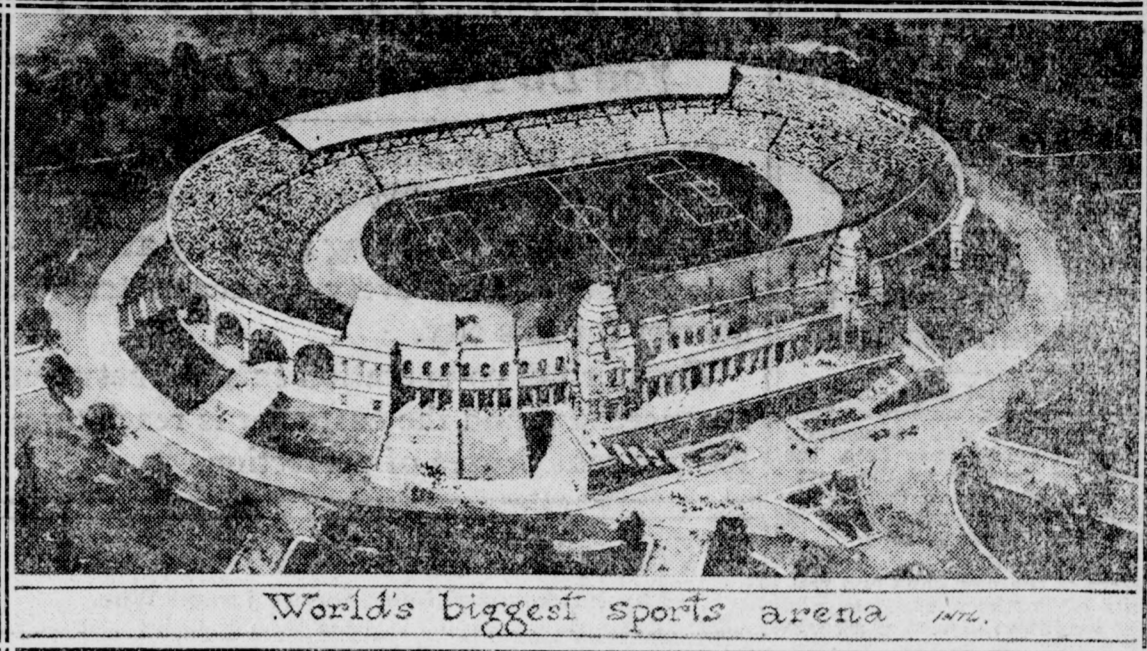

The center of Negro population of the United States has moved northeast. It is now located in the extreme northwest corner of Georgia; approximately 9.95 miles farther east, and 19.4 miles farther north in 1920 than in 1910. Former movements have been southwesterly.

ENGLAND TO BUILD WORLD'S BIGGEST SPORT ARENA

World's biggest sports arena

Here is the Imperial Stadium at Wembley Park as it will appear when completed in time for the next Cup Tie Final in the spring of 1923. The Stadium has been spoken of as "one of the side shows" of the British Empire Exhibition, to be opened in 1924. If the greatest sports arena in the world, with accommodation for 126,000 persons, is a "side show," what will the exhibition be, with its backing of millions of Empire capital and Empire enterprise?

By CHARLES A. SMITH
For International News Service.
LONDON, Nov.—What is claimed to be the largest sports arena in the world is now rapidly nearing completion at Wembley Park, just outside London.

Work has been proceeding on the ground day and night for nearly a year, and it is expected by the architects that it will be completed in time for the Football Cup Final, which corresponds to the world's series, in the Spring of next year.

Reinforced concrete and steel work have been largely used in the structure of this huge stadium, which will accommodate 126,000 spectators, every one of whom will be able to have an uninterrupted view of the field of play.

A quarter-mile running track encircles the playing field, and a straight 220 yards dash, which will be the only one of its kind in Europe, is being laid out in front of the Royal box.

Numerous features, hitherto unknown at English sports grounds, such as a wireless observation tower, a first aid station, a telephone exchange connecting up every part of the stadium, dressing rooms of unsurpassed dimensions, showers, a restaurant and a buffet capable of accommodating 2,000 are being embodied in the construction, on which between 1,000 and 1,100 men are continuously employed.

The committee of management is planning an ambitious programme, and hopes to make the ground a permanent center of the great national and international contests in the future. One of their schemes is to try to get permission to hold the Olympic games there in 1928 or 1932.

Belgian Star and Cochran to Clash

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Close on the heels of his sensational 500 to 231 victory over Jake Schaefer, the champion, last night, Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, will take on Welker Cochran, another American, in this afternoon's match of the tournament for the world's 18.2 ball line billiard championship. Horemans is now tied with Schaefer and Rober Conti, of France, for second place in the standing with two victories and one defeat.

Willie Hoppe, former champion, who is leading with two victories in as many starts, will face a difficult match tonight in meeting Conti. The latter has been playing fine billiards and yesterday accounted for Erich Hagelacher, the German, by a score of 500 to 355. The latter has yet to win a match in four attempts, while Cochran is virtually out of it with only one victory in three matches.

Volley Ball Game Is Won by Glendale

The first league volleyball game between the senior teams of the two intermediate schools was played off Thursday on the grounds at Glendale avenue school, resulting in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of Glendale avenue. The line-up for Glendale included Betty Glade, Elly Christenson, Evelyn Moser, Dorothy Foxes, Julia Steelman, Mildred Batty, Louise Kopp, Louise Hoyt, Alice Luc.

SPORTS CHATTER
By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The action of the officials of the New York boxing commission in calling off all bets made as to the result of the Brinckerhoff match is only one of a number of such instances that have occurred recently in various parts of the country.

This action also was taken by the referee in a number of wrestling matches held in San Francisco during the last few months. There are many who wonder what good such action does. As a matter of fact, it undoubtedly does considerable to discourage betting on sporting events. While the thoroughly conscientious sportsman would not hesitate to pay his wager in the event that his man lost, there also are thousands of betters who are not worried by conscientious scruples who are only too glad for some legitimate and official excuse whereby they may evade the payment of a lost bet.

Under the circumstances those who make wagers for the sake of the money involved rather than the mere sport of having some stake on the result, are chary of entering into any such pact. Most of the betting that is done is through a commissioner of some sort so that the two men actually do not ever come face to face. It is only in the case of friends that actual contact occurs.

Naturally, in this case, when the bets are called off, the money is returned, but, on occasions, with slight loss to both betters as

Washington's Eleven Contests Stanford

PAID ALTO, Nov. 18.—A threat of rain today raised the hopes of the University of Washington football squad which meets Stanford university in one of the crucial contests of the schedule of the Pacific coast conference.

The Sun Dodgers have been practicing for some time with the rain pouring down in their Seattle stadium as the northwestern winter has set in. Coach Enoch Bagshaw expressed himself as satisfied with the weather, whether it rained or shined. The dope favors the visitors.

Freddie use of the forward pass and shifty tricks played by both squads is predicted by supporters of both institutions. The northwesterners were able to score via the aerial in their game with California last Saturday and expect to repeat their performance today.

Coach Andy Kerr of Stanford before the battle predicted that the game would be close with the breaks deciding the winner. The Cards for the past week since their game with the University of Southern California have been devoting most of their attention to the aerial game, indicating that they hope to outdo the visitors in their own department.

A kicking duel is in prospect between Leonard Ziel, shifty Washington back, and Art Wilcox, with Cuddeback, Stanford's sensational extra point man filling in during the pinches. Should the Palo Alto men succeed in getting inside the Vikings' 35-yard line they will be dangerous, it is generally admitted.

Although neither team has a chance to win a championship by emerging victorious, Washington will have a clean bid for the honor of playing Penn State in Pasadena in the New Year's inter-sectional contest should they decisively beat Kerr's charges, while Stanford will be conceded a fair chance of being able to hold California to a low score in their "big game" should they upset the dope today.

Trojans Picked for Winners Over Idaho

PASADENA, Nov. 18.—Fighting to score an impressive victory and grab the right to represent the Pacific coast in the annual East vs. West classic on New Year's day, the powerful U. S. C. machine swept on the field to face the assault of the fighting University of Idaho eleven this afternoon.

It was the second sectional struggle of the season for Southern California and a fair-sized crowd was out to watch the two squads in their battle for gridiron supremacy.

Two to one favorites at the post, the Trojans were expected to crush the invaders by at least three touchdowns. In some quarters it was freely predicted that the Cardinal and Gold machine would win by at least twenty-eight points.

At the start of the afternoon's contest, Idaho has won two and lost two games. On the other hand the Trojans had a clean slate, except for one defeat sustained at the hands of California's Golden Bears, 12 to 0.

U. S. C. entered today's game with practically the same lineup that started against Stanford and California, except for Captain Leo Calland, who is seriously ill of a case of near pneumonia.

Idaho has been working hard during the past two days and the squad was without an injury when the players lined up for the starting whistle.

GLENDALE WINS OVER ALHAMBRA

Locals Take Long End of 18 to 6 Score in Game
on Home Field

Alhambra High school met defeat on the local gridiron yesterday afternoon to the tune of 18 to 6 with the long end of the score held by Glendale Union High school.

This game closed the football series in the Central Athletic League. On account of two tied games, Glendale probably will be given only third place according to Coach Normal C. Hayhurst.

On account of darkness, the last quarter of yesterday's game was shortened to two minutes. Glendale scored in the first quarter and at its end the score was 6 to 0. Then Alhambra tied the score in the second quarter. Glendale came back in the third quarter and boosted the score to 18 to 6. No points were made in the last quarter.

Runs through the Alhambra line were made by Ronald West, Richard Ryan, and Fred Stott, captain of the team. They made no attempt to run around the line but went right through it. In the second half Alhambra opened up with a bunch of forward passes but was unable to get through the local line.

At the end of the first half Jack Thayer left the game because of a sore shoulder and Clifton Clouse took his place as tackle. In the last quarter Angelo Brucker substituted for Lee Shannon as guard; Norman Nelson took the place of Horatio Butts as right half and Perry Ross substituted for Marauri Morfi as end.

A LETTER

Burbank, Cal., Nov. 1, 1922,
SKREEN & SKREEN,
Special Agents, the Provident Life & Trust Co., Burbank, Calif.:

Dear Sirs—I am glad to acknowledge receipt of check from the Provident Life & Trust Company in payment of the Endowment Policy which is maturing together with check for the regular installment payment on the other policy which matured last year. Settlements on both these policies have proven very satisfactory.

I have been insured in a great many different companies carrying a total of approximately $250,000.00 of insurance, with three policies in your company. The treatment I have received from the Provident has always been of the very best and I consider it one of the finest insurance companies in which a man can do business.

During my business career, I have seen a number of instances emphasizing the value of Life Insurance and can most heartily endorse the work you are doing.

With best wishes for your continued success,
I am,
Very truly yours,

'BOOSTER CHORUS' AT REVIVAL MEET

Choir Made Up of Children Sang at C. C. Church Last Night

A unique feature of the revival meeting last night at the Central Christian church was the children's choir, which Mr. Conner, of the Corner Trio, calls the "Booster Chorus." Forty small children were used. Only one practice was held and that for but forty-five minutes, yet every child was perfectly familiar with the program and knew his part without prompting. Several choruses were sung hilariously, boosting the meetings, and giving enthusiasm to the large crowd.

One entitled, "Hats Off, Ladies" was repeated and thoroughly enjoyed by all except those who were pointed out as having their hats on. They had learned the chorus of "Bringing in the Sheaves" in the Chinese language. Every child sang every word perfectly so far as we could speak only English could detect. An entirely new children's program will be given next Friday night and already the chorus promises to be doubled in size for scores of boys and girls looked on last night and they will be out for practice.

Rev. Cole spoke on the topic, "Stop, Look, Listen." It was an exhortation for both children and adults and was well received. The main auditorium was filled for this service. The Conners sang another southern melody, "Pharaoh's Horsemen Drowned in the Sea." Mrs. Nern recited "Little Jack" for the boys and girls. An entirely new song was given by the trio, entitled "You Must Let Go."

Services will be held every night next week. The following sermons are announced by Rev. Cole: "The Most Popular Sin in the World"; "The Sin We Are Afraid to Mention"; "In Christ"; "Demas, the Deserter."

The Church As a Business Asset; It Is Great Factor In Building Up Community

HERE is no factor that contributes so generously to the making of a live community; no element that tends to create prosperity like strong, wide-awake churches. Not in the sense of the money spent by the churches and their individual members, but in the atmosphere the church lends to the city, the moral force it creates, the bond it gives that the community is one in which life and law are respected.

The force of the church in this respect is very often unrecognized and unacknowledged although it is felt by all, even by the atheist and the scoffer at religion. But those who take the trouble to define and analyze this feeling must give credit where it is due.

Church people moving from place to place choose a city where their particular denomination is strong, or, at least, represented. People wholly without church affiliation, especially those with children, prefer to live in a city where there are strong, live churches. They know the moral atmosphere is cleaner and purer in such a place. The smallest, weakest church in the most godless community gives notice that the place is not entirely given over to evil, that the force of righteousness, however badly handicapped, is working there.

Few people would continue to live in a community where there are no churches. No man of acumen would consider establishing a business in such a place. So, speaking from a material standpoint alone, the church is the foundation of the community, the support on which rests the business structure. Business men who think know this and acknowledge it.

Can you imagine anyone wanting to live in Glendale if there were no churches here? Can you imagine a man wanting to continue in business here if he could possibly get out?

A stronger church means a more progressive and a more prosperous community in every way.

Can we do less than acknowledge our indebtedness to the church?

A SOCIAL EVENT

HOLD JUBILATION MEETING
A jubilation and thanksgiving meeting of the Glendale W. C. T. U. was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. S. Wood, 1470 West Wilson avenue, at which there was a large attendance.

President Harding's Thanksgiving proclamation was read, after which the passage of the Wright law was discussed and a report from the world W. C. T. U. convention at Philadelphia given by Mrs. C. W. Bacon, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Anna of the P. E. O. took the devotional service, and every member responded to the roll call with a scriptural passage or prayer. Sacred songs followed, after which Mrs. O. S. Palmer spoke urging donations for the Old Ladies' Home at Highland Park, of which the Glendale W. C. T. U. members have pledged themselves to furnish a room. In this connection it was brought out that the society had completed their $35 pledge for Near East relief.

The program embodied two charming "Dolly" songs and readings by little Margaret Chase, granddaughter of the hostess.

ALL DAY MEETING
The regular all day gathering of Mrs. Anna of the P. E. O. took place yesterday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Case, 344 N. Maryland avenue. The business meeting was opened at 10:30 a. m. by Mrs. Hattie Stamps, president. When the formal business had been disposed of, the gathering was thrown open and a luncheon to which each member brought a guest, was served by the hospitality committee.

Those constituting this committee were, in addition to Mrs. Case, hostess, Mrs. Alice Ripley, Mrs. Mary Cooper and Mrs. Madeline Kelly.

In the afternoon an entertainment program was given, opening with a talk on "Household Problems" by Miss Peterson of Los Angeles, domestic science instructor. Her remarks are reported to have been of an informative and constructive nature.

Mrs. Helen Graham Cole then rendered two charming vocal solos, "The Captive Lark" and "Such a Little Fellow." Miss Peterson and Mrs. Cole were both presented with flowers. There were forty present.

MAKE PLANS FOR BALL
The Sons of Veterans' ball, given under the auspices of Auxiliary No. 7, takes place Tuesday night, December 5, at the American Legion hall. The Shrine club orchestra will furnish the music. The committee in charge of the affair has as its chairman Mrs. Lula Paugh, president of the Auxiliary, and serving with her are Mrs. Pearl Gillett, Mrs. Cora Stuart and Miss Ida Galer.

The meats of N. P. Banks Camp No. 2 have formed a committee to co-operate with the ladies in making this affair a success. The committee is headed by Commander R. M. McGee and his aides are C. F. Parker, H. W. Hall and A. H. Davis.

The committees wish it to be known that, although the affair is called a "ball," it is to be quite informal.

PLENTY OF ROADS FOR MOTORISTS

Sixty-Five Thousand Miles of Highways in State; Not All Smooth

With $85,000,000 worth of roads to choose from, motorists are going to have a pretty gay touring season this winter.

California, as a state-at-large, has dug down into its pocket for this amount of road building money, but this figure doesn't include what the individual counties have spent to make the state a touring mecca of the world, and this winter will be the high spot in motoring activity in the west, say officials of the Automobile club of Southern California.

After the flustered activity of four or five years ago, when every county was housecleaning itself and changing the old, dusty turnpikes into smooth ribbons of pavement, there has come a lull in actual road-building work, but it does not mean that road building is at a standstill in Southern California.

Lot of Money, Eh? Motorists may be interested to know that up to the present time the counties of the southern part of the state have provided approximately $23,000,000 themselves for road improvement.

This is in addition to what the state has provided, making nearly $150,000,000 in all. Of course, all the state funds are not spent in Southern California, but this part of the state is steadily getting on a solid road basis.

According to Auto Club figures there are some 65,000 miles of road in California. Of these, more than 5100 miles are highly improved and about as smooth as a razor blade. No eastern visitor could cover all of the roads in Southern California alone in less than three weeks of hard traveling.

There is a road for every taste. Anything that any other part of the world can offer in the way of scenery can be found right here plus a lot that can't be found anywhere else. Each season is as distinct here as elsewhere, if the motorist will follow his nose.

All Sorts of Roads In the winter there is the snow of the mountain peaks and in the summer there are the sand and waves of the seashore. In the (Continued on Page 8)

Having Any Trouble With Your Auto? Is There Anything You Would Like to Know About Your Car? Ask The Evening News

The Glendale Evening News wishes to announce to its readers that beginning next Saturday a new department to be known as The Evening News Automobile Bureau will be opened.

The purpose of the department, which will be represented in the columns of The Evening News each Saturday, will be to answer for readers all automobile questions of a technical character.

Edward Holland, mechanical engineer and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, will be in charge of the question box.

He has served in this capacity on various papers throughout the country, and in obtaining his services, this paper believes that it will be rendering its subscribers a valuable service.

Mr. Holland has made an extensive study of internal combustion and all the complex problems that tend to bewilder the average car owner.

No questions pertaining to the comparative makes of automobiles will be answered.

The Evening News Automobile Bureau opens next Saturday.

Address your letters to the Query Editor, The Evening News Automobile Bureau, Glendale, California.

No question will be too easy nor too difficult.

Now then, you automobile owners, fire in your questions!

Here Are Reasons for Weak Battery

Hard, fast driving over rough roads or through mud and dust gives a battery punishment that will shorten its period of service, while neglect caused by frequent testing and lack of water are equally hard on the cells. Other causes of battery failure, before the normal period of life is up, include long driving, much starting and stopping, cold and hot weather and excessive use of lights.

Watch Spark Plugs to Get Efficiency

Spark plug points should be checked up occasionally. The intense heat causes them to burn off and to have too wide a gap for the spark to "jump." This quite often is the cause of irregular firing. If one will throttle his motor at low speed, he may tell generally if it is firing on all cylinders. Misfiring is more noticeable at low speed.

Good Speed Made by Average Motor Car

The Bell telephone estimates that an average of three calls daily are made upon every telephone instrument. The average motor car travels twenty-one miles daily. Every time a telephone rings there is a motor car somewhere in this country which has traveled seven miles. Said another way round, every time a telephone bell rings seven automobiles have traveled one mile, and one of them is a General Motors car.

Do Not Use Grease on Your Commutator

Grease should never be used for commutator or timer lubrication. Cylinder oil is the proper lubricant for these parts, and should be used only sparingly. This is applied to all commutators or ignition distributors. When grease is used here it frequently serves to prevent the commutator arm from making contact.

GET READY FOR LICENSE PLATES

Arrange Preliminaries Now. Is Suggestion Coming From Auto Club

Now is the time for motorists to prepare for the State license rush of the new year, warns the Automobile Club of Southern California.

There are many details which must be arranged before the new license can be readily secured, and the Auto club, in making arrangements to care for its members also issues some good advice for the general motoring public as follows:

Remember that the 1922 certificate of registration will act as the application for the renewal of the license. If the old one is lost or marred, be sure to obtain a new one and have it correctly filled out so that it will be perfectly legible. Do this before applying for your new license. Application for new certificates can be obtained at the Auto club offices or at the nearest license department of the State.

If your address has been changed during the year, call at the nearest license department, notify them, and receive a new certificate with the correct address thereon. It is a misdemeanor not to do so.

More Information. If your car was purchased on a lease contract and has been fully paid for during the year, it will be necessary to secure the signature of the legal owner on the certificate in order to release his name. If you have purchased a used car during the year do not fail to record the transfer immediately and secure a new certificate in your name.

Operators' licenses do not have to be renewed annually, but all motorists must have them, and carry same when operating a car.

Non-resident motorists who have secured a California permit which expires before January 20, must secure a California license and pay for the last quarter of 1922 and the license must be renewed for 1923 before February 1. Motorists who have changed the body style of their car during the year must get a certificate from the police or license department before applying for renewal of license.

DEPARTMENT FOR SPORTS NOW OPEN

Authority on Hunting, Fishing and Camping Is With Automobile Club

Motorists of Glendale who are strenuously addicted to hunting, fishing and camping, will find all they want to know about these sports in a new department just opened by the Auto club of Southern California for all southern and central counties.

Ceph B. Salisbury, who is California's greatest authority on hunting and fishing, and a brother of Captain Edward A. Salisbury, the famous explorer and big game hunter, is now affiliated with the automobile club in the development of the camping department.

This is the first time in history that a motoring organization has opened and maintained a special department exclusively for the use of motorists who wish to know just where to find game and fish of all kinds, and who wish to learn the location of special camping sites.

In Government Work Mr. Salisbury was for seven years connected with the federal government in trout and salmon research work. During that time he explored the entire Pacific coast in quest of the best trout streams and lakes, hunting localities and camp spots. He covered the uplands looking for quail, dove and deer.

Officials of the auto club are issuing this statement on his biography to give motorists an idea of the quality of expert opinion they will have at their service.

Captain Salisbury, brother of the auto club expert, is now in India, and if there are any intrepid motorists in Glendale who big game hunting, they can also have a hankering for a little really secure information along this line as "Ceph" is in close touch with the Salisbury expedition.

Wheels That 'Toe In' Are Easiest Guided

A car the front wheels of which "toe in" can be steered far easier and much safer than one in which the front wheels are perfectly straight or "toe out." The wheels of new cars invariably slant in a little, for this tends to keep the car in the middle of the road, and this, in turn, permits the driver to keep the car moving in a straight line with little or no effort. But this slight slant should be watched carefully and checked up, as any alteration of it affects both the driving of the car and the wear on the tires.

Why Not Cure The Reckless Autoist With Publicity?

By Morris

The automobile is still numbering its dead. Statistics gathered from a number of cities covering the first nine months of the year show no apparent falling off from the death registration in the United States last year due to automobile accidents. Figures compiled today give evidence that the death rate due to automobile accidents is still high. Last year saw an increase of 1065 deaths over the total in 1920. This covered a total of every state in the Union. Figures for 1922 are still incomplete. Following is a summary of reports gathered by International News Service:

New National Safety Essay Contest Opens

Here, kids, is another chance to win a prize in a new national safety essay contest. Get out your pens and let's go!

Officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California have received word from the Highway Education Board at Washington that all pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades who are fourteen years old or under are eligible to compete.

The three national awards, any one of which may be won by a Southern California pupil, are: first—a gold watch plus a free trip to Washington; second—gold loving cup; third—silver loving cup. Cash awards and gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded as special state prizes for those who do not win the trip to Washington.

Here are the rules of the contest: The essay must not be longer than 500 words. Contest closes December 4. Each essay must be illustrated by an original drawing, appropriate photograph or clipping from a magazine or newspaper.

Essays must be written on one side of the paper only and may be typewritten or in pen and ink. Each essay must bear the name, school and home address of the pupil in the upper left-hand corner of the first page. Essays must be handed to the school principal or designated teacher before December 4. The subject must be "My Share in Making the Highways Safe."

The Safety Department of the Auto club will give any necessary advice to teachers and pupils in preparing the essays, and it is hoped that Southern California will again carry off the honors as last year, when Stanley Newcomb of San Diego won the prize for this state. Call at the Auto club and learn any additional details.

Novel Way to Test Gasoline for Water

Many autoists are being cheated by having watered "gas" passed off on them. Minnesota's oil inspectors have devised a simple test for discovering water in gasoline. On the theory that water is heavier than gasoline and will sink to the bottom, it naturally follows that a plain pine stick daubed in cheap molasses will glide through gasoline without having any effect on the sticky substance, but on encountering water the molasses will come off. By dipping such a prepared stick in a tank supposed to contain only gasoline the exact amount of water in the bottom will be revealed.

INCREASE IN CAR SALES REPORTED

South Leads Over North In Percentage of Gain In Month of October

October proved to be another remarkable month for California motor car and truck dealers in volume of business transacted, compared with a like month, October, 1921.

There were 12,563 passenger cars and 1595 trucks registered in the various branch offices of the Motor Vehicle Department, according to statistics made public in the November issue of Motor Registration News. The total of the two, aggregating 14,158 motor vehicles, represents an increase of 10 per cent over October of last year.

When consideration is given to the marked shortage of cars in this state, a condition from which all large distributors of standard make automobiles are suffering, the figures reflect a continuity of the healthy complexion the industry is in throughout California.

Shipments Increase. An improvement is already noted in November by statisticians who believe that the present month's registrations will exceed October's aggregate. Increased shipments of automobiles to this state to relieve the stringency existing in one of the causes which will make the present thirty-day period a good one.

Northern California, with a total registration of 6204 motor vehicles divided as follows: 5450 passenger cars and 754 trucks increased 17 per cent over its showing in the same month of 1921.

Southern California had a net gain of 27 per cent. Its volume was 7954 of which 7113 represents passenger cars and 841, trucks.

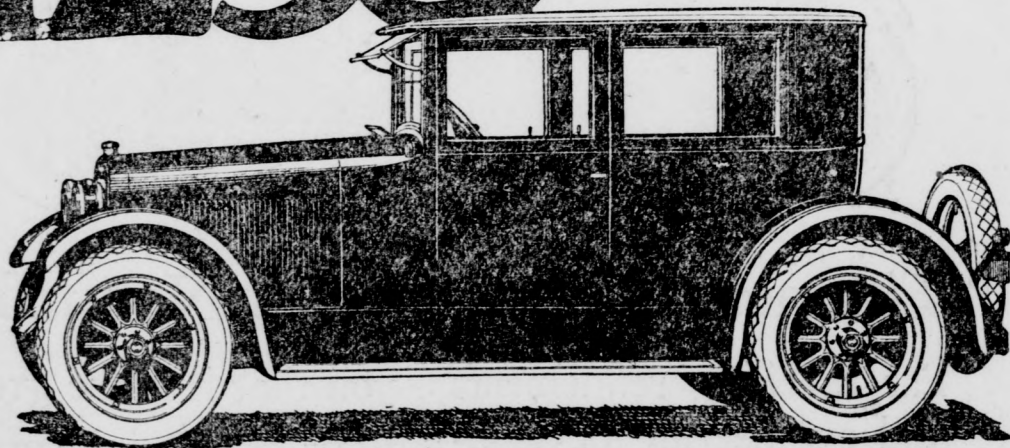

Of the two classes, cars and trucks, the latter recorded the greatest gain, 59 per cent constituting the advance in sale of commercial vehicles. Northern California accounted for a 98 per cent larger truck sale and the South, an increase of 35 per cent.

Los Angeles Leads. Once more, Los Angeles led all counties in total sales with a mark in passenger cars alone of 5165, a sum which was higher than the next thirteen counties combined. The thirteen disposed of 5163 cars.

WILLIS-KNIGHT SALES PUBLISHED

'Motor News,' Automobile
Organ, Elaborates on October Sales of Car

George T. Smith, Glendale agent for Willis-Knight and Overland automobiles, announces that "Motor News," a monthly news organ devoted exclusively to automobile sales and statistics, emphasizes the enormous gain in sale of the Willis-Knight in the state of California during the month of October, 1922.

During this month, the report shows, the sales increase of the Willis-Knight over the sales for the corresponding month in 1921 totaled 128 per cent. This is said to be the largest gain made by any of the ten leading cars in these comparative months.

Mr. Smith states that the foregoing record only goes to prove the enormous increase in popularity of the sleeve valve motor. As the public becomes more cognizant of the economy, simplicity and ease of operation of the Willis-Knight, he predicts that sales of the car will show even greater returns in the coming year.

Local gain in the sales of the Willis-Knight during the month of October, this year, amounted to more than 100 per cent compared with the sales for the month of September, Mr. Smith said.

He also announced that the latest addition to the Willis-Knight family—the seven-passenger sedan—will make its appearance in Glendale this coming week.

H. L. Hock, of Glendale, who ordered one of the new sedans while at the automobile show in Los Angeles, took delivery of his car yesterday. It is finished in a special maroon with grey upholstery.

REO BREAKS SALT LAKE-L. A. TIME

Made 853 Mile Run In Twenty-Six Hours and
Fifteen Minutes

With the completion of the surfaced highway from Salt Lake City to St. George, Utah, a distance of 318 miles, there is to be established a fast passenger and fruit express automobile service, according to word received in Glendale by Harry E. White, head of the Harry E. White, Inc., local agents for the Reo automobile.

An extension of the mail service by motor car on fast schedule from St. George to Las Vegas, Nevada, is also contemplated, the communication says.

A stock model, fully equipped, Reo six touring car was sent out from Salt Lake last week by the Reo Motor Car company of California to check this route under mail schedule conditions that will be competitive with the routes by rail. It will be possible, on this schedule, to deliver mail at St. George nine hours out from Salt Lake, and to Las Vegas in fifteen hours, a distance of 474 miles from the starting point.

The success of the Reo in conquering the hardships of mountain roads under construction and repair, as far as Las Vegas, warranted the continuance of the test run on to Los Angeles, a total distance of 853 miles, on a fast touring schedule, but within the legal speed limits.

"On checking the time on arrival here it was found that the time consumed for the long and heart-breaking run had beaten the previous record for a motor car between Salt Lake and Los Angeles by an even six minutes, the total lapse time being twenty-six hours and fifteen minutes for the 853 miles."

AUTO NO BETTER THAN ITS BATTERY

When Latter Is Inspected
Monthly It Adds to Life of Car, Is Claim

"An automobile," says G. B. Reynolds, manager of the Westinghouse Service station, "is never any better than its battery—the magic box that provides the spark of life to set it in motion. The health of the battery depends, entirely upon the care and attention which it receives."

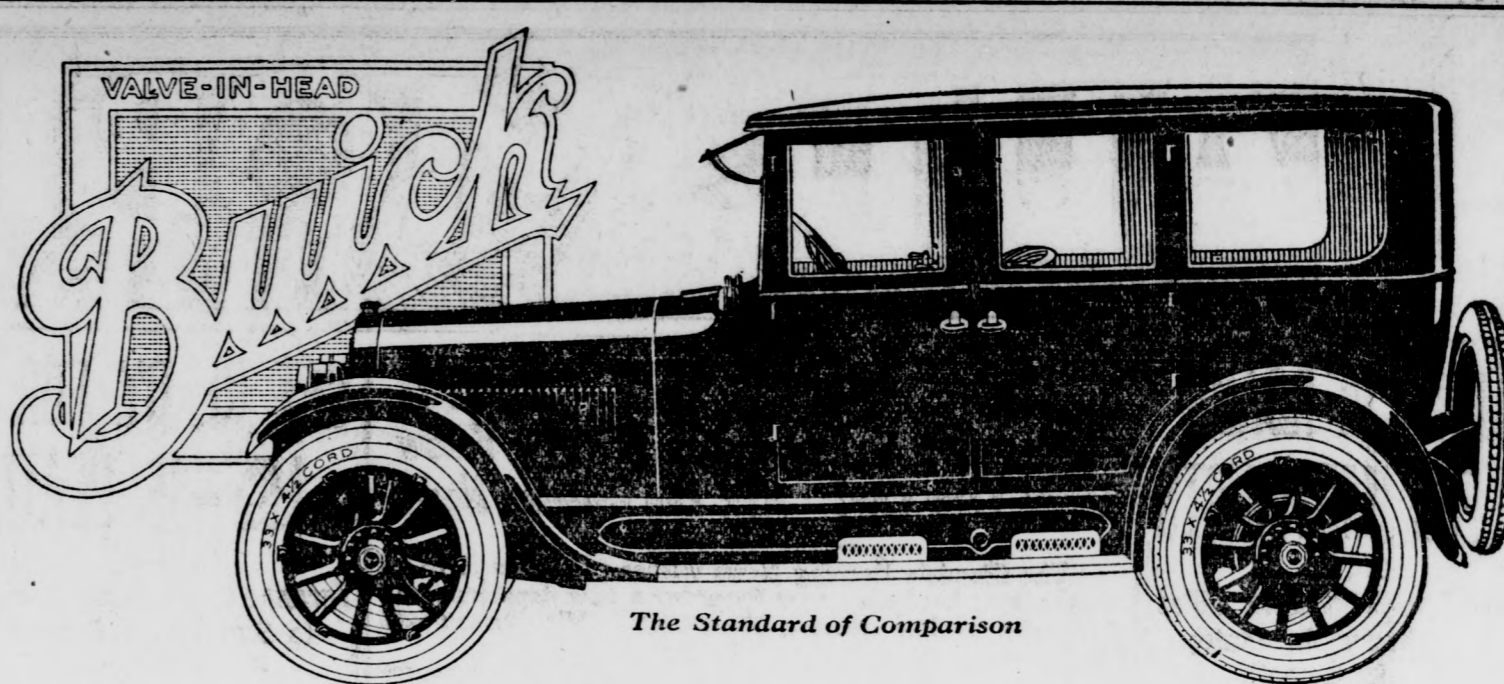

"Westinghouse attention means battery service extraordinary. It means more than filling a battery with distilled water, more than an occasional hydrometer test."

"Westinghouse attention means a longer life of greater service for the battery that is now in your car. It means relief from battery cares and battery troubles."

"The ounce of prevention is applied whenever possible. You can learn the cost of repairs, if they are necessary, before the work is started."

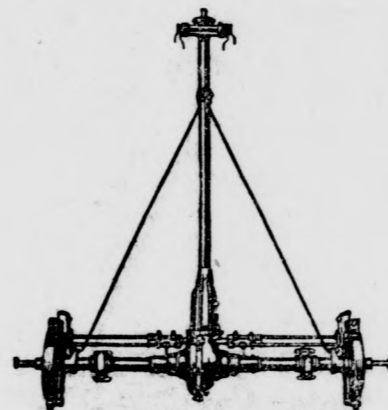

"Two Westinghouse inspections each month will keep your battery on its toes. The prompt, courteous attention of our station is for the public, regardless of the make of battery used. We never want anyone to feel that they are under obligation by asking advantage of this service."

The Rockland lake lighthouse on the Hudson river began to lean shortly after it was built. It was caused probably by the washing out of an oyster bed. The lighting machinery has been adjusted so that it functions properly.

The Standard of Comparison

The Outstanding Closed Car Value 1923 Five Passenger Six-Cylinder Sedan—

Buick Drives Through
"Third" Member

All Buick cars drive through a torque tube third member on the rear axle. Buick springs serve as cushions only. This not only makes riding easier, since the springs do not take the driving thrust but it also means that any accident breaking a Buick rear spring cannot misalign the axle and prevent driving the car some on its own power.

Measured by any standards you may choose and for every kind of motoring, the Buick five passenger six-cylinder sedan is easily the outstanding value in a closed car.

It is a handsome, richly appointed sedan; tasteful in the quality of its interior fittings and in the comfortable luxury of its wide, easy seats with their fine plush upholstery.

Every driving convenience is found in this car, so perfectly arranged that each function is recorded before the driver's eyes and every control is at his finger tips.

And in addition, there is the dependable, enduring performance and the economical, satisfactory motoring that always has been so marked in the Buick chassis and the famous Buick valve-in-head engine.

JEWETT SIX AUTO FINELY BALANCED

C. J. Ruskauff, Local Agent,
Says This Means Long
Life for Car

C. J. Ruskauff, sales manager of the Sunset Motor Car company, Glendale agents for the Jewett automobile, says that a finely balanced Jewett Six means much more than smoothness and flexibility.

Briefly, he declares it means long life and economy, because vibration is reduced to a minimum and working parts are not subjected to brutal punishment.

Continuing he says: "Such is the immense advantage of all good sixes. But it has remained for Jewett to produce a perfect six cylinder balance—combined with rare body comfort—and sells it for $1065 f. o. b. Detroit."

"Understand that fact and you will understand why the Jewett is breaking sales records in every section of the nation. It is a true quality six at the price of a four."

"One ride will tell the complete story. Then you will realize that there is no substitute for ample horsepower as it is developed in a spirited six cylinder motor."

"Then, too, you will realize that the Jewett is a perfected unit with clutch, transmission, drive shaft and rear axle—all of them, harmonious factors designed for strength and unvarying efficiency."

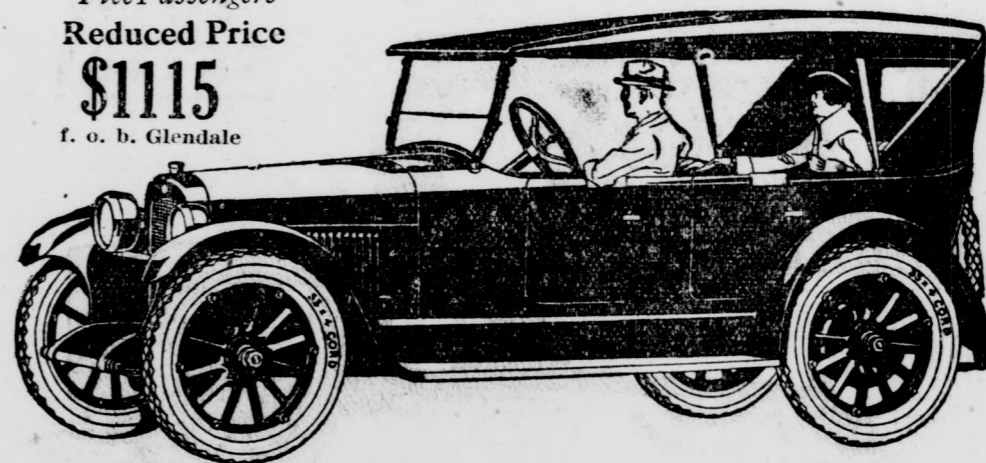

"In brief, the Jewett is precisely the kind of six that you would expect the Paige-Detroit Motor Car company to make and endorse. There could be no stronger guarantee of enduring satisfaction."

Freezing of Piston Done by Expansion

"Freezing" is a term applied to what happens to the piston if the cylinder is not cooled. It is as liable to happen in summer as in winter. The piston, due to lack of lubrication, expands to such a point that it has much friction in the cylinder, and, on account of the high temperature, becomes fast, or is said to "freeze."

New K. C. Speedway Constructed of Wood

The new automobile speedway recently completed at Kansas City is built entirely of southern pine lumber and timber. It cost about $500,000 and it took 900 men sixty-seven working days to shape 4,400,000 board feet of lumber into the great wooden bowl which is said to be the fastest automobile race track in the world. It required 175 cars to transport the lumber—chiefly from Louisiana and Mississippi—and if laid end to end the pieces would extend for 1000 miles. The track is 90 feet wide with a 40-foot safety zone on the inside. The wearing surface is made up of 2x3 inch planks laid on edge, and the entire structure is above the ground, the foundation being of timber. At the turns the track is banked at an angle ranging from 7 to 42 degrees and to a height of 25 feet at the sharp point. Thanks to the banking an average speed of 120 miles an hour may be obtained without danger, providing the driver can keep up eighty miles an hour in order to stick on the steep turns.

STUDEBAKER SIGN SPELLS 'WELCOME'

New Greeting to Motorists Is Suspended by Packer Auto
Company of Glendale

The Studebaker Corporation of America is distributing welcome signs for greeting purposes to all its agencies throughout the world.

The signs are one and one-half feet in width and four feet in length. The lettering thereon, spelling the greeting "Welcome," is richly colored and is made very conspicuous by a black background.

Two of the signs have just been received by the Packer Auto company, Glendale agents for the Studebaker car. One is for the local firm's Van Nuys agency, and the other, which has already been suspended, is now in use at the Glendale salesrooms of the company at 245 South Brand boulevard.

An unusual feature in the hanging of the welcome signs in the hundreds of Studebaker agencies will be that they will all be suspended from the ceilings at a uniform height from the floor and distance from the sales-room entrance.

The one at the Packer agency is located according to specifications—twenty feet from the front door and one and one-half feet from the ceiling. It can be seen very plainly by pedestrians passing on South Brand boulevard, and except for the fleet of latest model Studebaker cars that bedeck the Packer company's sales floor, it will undoubtedly be the first appointment to attract the attention of inbound motorists.

At the present the Packer company is featuring in its display the new Light Six coupe. This will be superseded this coming week by a carload of new models, including a coupe special and a Light Six roadster, Mr. Patton said.

He also stated that cars are coming in now in trim fashion and that hereafter his company will not fall behind in its deliveries.

FLEET OF SIXTY ESSEX CARS SOLD

Sun-Maid Raisin Company
Buys 'Cabs' for Branches;
Valued at $75,000

A telegram received yesterday by the Kelley Kline Motor company, Glendale agents for Hudson and Essex cars, announced the sale of a fleet of sixty Essex Cabriolets on one order to the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, of Fresno, Calif.

The cars were sold through the Essex company's Fresno agency. They will be distributed by the Sun-Maid Raisin company to its various branch houses throughout the United States.

The appropriate value of the fleet of cars sold is estimated by P. A. Kelley, of the Kelley-Kline company, to be in the neighborhood of $75,000.

He says that the sale of the fleet is adequate proof that in the "Cabs" every dealer handling them has a splendid hitherto unworked market. These cars, he stated, are bound to sell, and sell big to firms who use fleets.

Several of the "Cabs" in question are now in transit to Glendale, Mr. Kelley stated. He says that they will arrive within the course of the next ten days, and will be placed on exhibition immediately at the showrooms of the firm at 230 north Brand boulevard.

Also included in the order of autos are Hudson coaches, one Hudson speedster, two enclosed Essexes, one "Cab" and one open model. These also will be placed on display just as soon as they arrive, Mr. Kelley said.

Keep to the Right and Avoid Accident

A motorist should always keep to the right, not only when meeting another vehicle, but when rounding a corner, turn, curve or circle; approaching a hilltop, crossroads, or streets. Also bear to the right as far as practicable in making the left roadway where the road forks or at an "offset street."

Wet Chamois Best Windshield Cleaner

The best and easiest way to clean the windshield is to wipe it off with a wet chamois and rub dry with a clean cloth. A little kerosene in the water will help if the glass is very dirty. This method of cleaning glass is to be recommended for closed cars, as it does not scratch.

Here's Equipment For Cleaning Car

The proper equipment needed to wash a car should include two clean, soft sponges, two good sized pails, several soft chamois skins, some flannel cloths, a cake of pure soap, clear running water, a hose without a nozzle and a soft duster.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW SALES STIMULANT

J. H. French, of Bartlett & French, Predicts Business Increase As Aftermath

The one big outstanding truth brought out at the Tenth Annual Automobile Show now closing in Los Angeles is that its residents generally have gotten away from the buying frenzy of 1920 and now want something in return for their money.

This was the message brought back to Glendale from the auto show by James H. French, member of the local firm of Bartlett & French, distributors of the Hupmobile car.

Mr. French was in attendance at the show for three days. While he was preoccupied most of the time hovering about the "Hup" booth, which displayed all the models in the Hupmobile line, he says he saw and recognized a great many Glendale people.

Also, that he was much interested in the enthusiasm manifested by Glendaleans in the various makes and models of automobiles.

Motorists generally, Mr. French said, emphasized to salesmen at the show that they were inclined to buy cars conservative in operation and upkeep, as well as cars conservative in their initial cost.

All in all he says the show is proving a strong stimulant for business, and, in his opinion, he believes that a bumper sale of cars will follow at its completion.

With this thought in mind his firm is disposing of all its used cars, which were accumulated through sales of new ones. To make room for new stock, the used cars are of all makes. They are now being displayed at the firm's showrooms at 107 East Colorado street.

How to Start Motor Using Hind Wheel

The best way to start a motor, when the electric starting system refuses to work and the crank has been left in the garage, is to jack up one of the rear wheels and turn it by hand with the clutch in and high gear engaged.

The spark should be retarded and only a small throttle opening allowed. Before removing the jack, the gears should be shifted to neutral again.

ANGELENOS BOOST FUTURE OF CITY

Keep Pace With Its Progress by Purchasing Suburban Residence Property

There is nothing more indicative of the superb faith in the great future of the city of Los Angeles than the fact that its residents are investing in that future.

This statement was made yesterday by an official of the Sparr Heights building organization, who has just completed a comprehensive survey of the Los Angeles real estate market.

He says this condition is particularly true of those who live in the suburban residential districts. "They have seen sections like Glendale, Hollywood, Alhambra and others grow from mere villages over night," he states, "and for that reason they want to keep step with the rapid growth of the metropolis of which they really are a part."

"The old-time mossbacks have held back saying that this growth was an over-inflation of values, a boom that would burst and ruin everybody. While they spent their time in predicting dire calamities, bankers, capitalists, manufacturers, captains of industry and men of vision have been pouring in a steady stream bringing with them millions of money to invest here."

Bank clearings have risen in volume like the surge of a tide. Manufactured products have almost doubled every year in quantity and volume, foreign commodities are increasing by leaps and bounds and the world has acknowledged the fact that Los Angeles is to be one of the two largest and greatest in commercial importance of the globe, and yet these same fossils have been patiently waiting and hoping that the time will come when they will be able to shout from the housetops, "I told you so."

"Had they been listened to, Glendale and Hollywood would still be but a small cluster of homes."

"It is fortunate, indeed, that these wiseacres are only an infinitesimal minority and that the majority of those who have lived in the vicinity of Los Angeles for a few years do not intend that outsiders shall reap all the benefits due to our phenomenal growth."

Purchasers Mostly Angelenos

"We find that most of the purchasers in Sparr Heights are those who have lived in the vicinity of Los Angeles for a number of years. They have selected this district for either one of two reasons. The first is because they realize that the ultimate congestion of Los Angeles will drive all those who desire peace and quiet to the suburbs, and, secondly, that the opportunity for safe and profitable investment is better where one can buy in a rapidly-developing section at opening prices and reap the profit that comes from the rapid rise in value, resulting from the vast sums of money spent in development."

"They are familiar with the scenic beauties of Sparr Heights and realize that a wealthy, cultured community of 40,000 people living in beautiful homes with an annual purchasing power of $1,600,000 will create conditions that will make an investment at Sparr Heights safe, sound and profitable."

Kick Out Clutch When Starting Car

Do you start the motor of your car the easiest way? The Los Angeles Chevrolet dealers tell how it should be done. "Retard the spark, then push the clutch pedal to the floor, then step on the starter button. This saves the battery by eliminating the useless turning over of the transmission gears. If the motor is exceptionally stubborn, give it a few turns with the choke up and the switch off."

Never Pass Car at Medium Rate Speed

Never overtake and pass another vehicle either too fast or too slow. If too fast, you may surprise other traffic or pedestrians, and find yourself on the wrong side of the road without your car under sufficient control. If too slow, you tend to block the road to other traffic by remaining unduly long on the left side, as well as often crowding over the vehicle you are passing.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

ON MAKING FRIENDS

A pathetic letter has just come to me from a girl who says she can't make friends. She says she has done everything she can think of, tried to be always pleasant, polite and willing and to keep a pleasant expression on her face, joined clubs but all to no avail—people just don't seem to be interested in her.

She signs herself "Heart-broken" and begs me to tell her something she can do to change this state of affairs.

What shall I say to her? How does one make friends if friends just don't naturally make themselves?

Personality is a magnet. Personality is the natural friend maker. If you have it you will make friends without effort. You may not keep them if you do not have certain virtues to back it, but you will go on making them so long as you have the magnet of a vivid personality.

But personality is a comparatively rare gift and almost everyone has friends. What then are the qualities that win them?

A cheerful disposition unquestionably helps, a jolly disposition still more so. We are always glad to meet the person who looks at life in a jolly good humored way and gets us into the same mood. "Laugh and the world laughs with you"—and to laugh together helps make people friends.

Like People

A friendly disposition is another magnet to draw people to you. If you like people and do not merely want to have them like you, they will sense the warmth of that feeling and be attracted by it. "The only way to have a friend is to be one." Of the artificial ways of winning friends none, I think, is more successful than to cultivate the habit of being a good listener. Find out what subjects people are interested in, get them to talk about them and then listen intelligently. Listening doesn't simply mean keeping silent while the other person talks. It means listening actively, understanding what they are saying, being interested in it, making intelligent replies, drawing them out, giving them a chance to present themselves and their doings in a good light. "Father came home saying he had a wonderful time," a friend of mine whose father was an officer in the Civil war, said to me the other day "and I knew that meant father had gotten somebody to listen to his war stories." You can easily see what qualities father would value in a new acquaintance.

She Is Pressing Don't think too much about yourself. That's fatal even if you are only thinking about yourself as a friend maker. I imagine that's one of the troubles with this girl who says she can't make friends. She ought to get her mind off herself and stop trying so hard to make friends and that would doubtless help her to make them. In golf when a man tries too hard to hit the ball he often defeats his own game. That is called pressing. The Conscious gets in the way of the Unconscious and inhibits it. That's what I think is happening to this girl—she is pressing. If she will decide that it doesn't matter so much after all that she will be interested in her work and her family, find pleasure in outdoor life and in reading, and in the movies, and in observing other people, perhaps that will help her to relax and be more natural, and in the end get what she wants.

BEAUTY CHATS

COLD AND HOT BATHS

There has always been a question as to whether the cold or hot bath is the most beneficial. There is something undeniably exhilarating about a cold plunge; on the other hand, there is both relaxation and refreshment in a hot bath. At one time the cold morning bath was quite a fad; all doctors recommended it for healthy as well as sick friends. I think the fad continues today though it has not so many enthusiastic advocates.

Personally, I think that it takes so much physical energy to brave the shock of a cold plunge that more strength is given out than is gained by the later reaction, and I am assuming that there will be a reaction. When there isn't, of course, a cold plunge is no more healthy than getting one's feet wet or sitting in a draught. I think that even an anemic person will benefit by a cold shower following a hot bath, for if the bath is very hot and the skin glowing from that, the shock of the cold water is a pleasant one and its effect can only be stimulating. But the room and the bath water must be hot enough to have made the skin already glowing and the bath must be followed by a brisk rub-down with a very rough towel to continue this stimulation.

That is why Turkish baths are so splendid for the weak as well as the strong. They make the body so glowingly hot that the cold shower is a delight. Fortunately Turkish baths are being built in more and more small towns so that greater numbers can know their benefit. For those who cannot enjoy the real one I would suggest a vapour bath as an excellent substitute. Put a cane-seated chair over a big bowl or tub of boiling hot water, seat yourself over this undressed and make a tent around yourself out of bath towels with blankets over them. This is to keep in the warmth and the steam. Even a few gallons of boiling water will make you perspire. Follow with a cold rinse.

Miss M. B.—Your pimples must come from internal disturbances. If you keep your system cleared and do not overeat or eat food that disagrees with you, your condition will clear up.

Rummy—Unless the lump in your nose is disfiguring, I should forget all about it and cultivate other possibilities. There are operations for correcting small defects in the shape of the nose, but most people prefer to leave the nose alone.

Bobby—For the lines under the eyes, feed the tissues with a nourishing cream; but, if you are trying to avoid wearing the glasses, while all the time you are needing them, you will only be making matters worse.

All of the clays that I have so far tested are very drying. These require many applications and it takes several days for the skin to recover. They do, however, cleanse the pores and many have their uses at times.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forster in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, so, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

PORK TENDERLOIN WITH SWEET POTATOES: Have your butcher cut one and one-half pounds pork tenderloin in slices and flatten them with cleaver. Wipe them with clean towel wrung out of cold water; place them in roasting pan and brown them in hot oven. Season with one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Pare five medium-sized sweet potatoes and place in the pan with the meat. Baste every ten minutes with one-fourth cup water if there are not sufficient drippings to baste both potatoes and meat. Cook forty-five minutes, or until potatoes are done. When ready to serve, place meat in center of hot platter and surround with the potatoes. Garnish with parsley.

BAKED APPLES: Make syrup by boiling together until thickened, two cups sugar and one cup water. Peel and core six medium-sized apples. When syrup begins to get thick drop the apples into it; place three or four sticks of cinnamon candy in each apple and cook until tender, basting apples frequently with syrup in pan. When done remove to serving dish, cook syrup remaining in pan until it is very thick and jelly-like and pour over the apples.

PERFECTION SALAD: Soften two tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup cold water, and let it stand for five minutes. Add two cups of boiling water, and when the gelatin is thoroughly dissolved, add one-half cup vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar. Mix well. Add one cup diced crisped celery, one cup shredded cabbage, four tablespoons canned pimiento, cut fine and one medium-sized green pepper, chopped, when the jelly begins to set. Pour into small cups, or individual moulds, which have been dipped in cold water, and allow to set for one hour, or longer if necessary to congeal properly. Serve with cooked salad dressing.

ECONOMICAL MAYONNAISE SALAD: Put in a mixing bowl, one whole egg or the yolks of two eggs, one teaspoon mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon white pepper, two tablespoons lemon juice and one cup of oil. Do not stir or beat them. Make a thick paste of one-third cup flour and cup cold water, stir out all of the lumps and cook in double boiler for ten minutes. When done add one tablespoon butter and beat it in well. Pour into bowl containing first mixture and quickly beat all with rotary egg beater until thick and smooth. Cool and use plain or thin with plain or whipped cream. This dressing will keep for some time if put in mason jar, covered closely and kept where it will keep cold.

Boston Cream Pie—Cream three tablespoons butter with one-half cup sugar, add one egg and mix well; then add four tablespoons milk alternately with seven-eighths cup flour sifted with one teaspoon baking powder. Beat up thoroughly and add one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Bake in two-layer cake pans in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Spread the following filling between the layers:

Filling—Mix one-half cup sugar, three tablespoons flour and one eighth teaspoon salt; slowly add the yolk of one egg, beaten, and one cup milk. Stir well and cook for ten minutes in double boiler. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla and remove from fire. Cool slightly, spread part of the filling on one layer, allow to stand five minutes and then add more filling. Place other layer on the top. Spread meringue over the whole and place in oven long enough to brown delicately. Use the white of egg left from filling for the meringue, adding to it two tablespoons sugar and beat until thick, then add one-eighth teaspoon baking powder and drop or two of vanilla.

Leaves $75,000 In Accident Insurance

JERSEYVILLE, Ill.—William P. Dunham, grocer, killed yesterday in an automobile accident left more than $75,000 in insurance to his widow and seven small children, it was learned tonight after neighbors began subscribing to a fund for the benefit of his family. Friends said Dunham had a premonition he would meet sudden death and local insurance agents announced he carried accident policies. The insurance, it was declared, would make Dunham's family one of the richest in town.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

To all of you who have written me asking how much you have benefited by following by reducing advice, I thank you fervently. You must know that it gives me great happiness, for I know even more than you do what I have saved from you. There is no doubt but what your lives have been saved for many years of usefulness.

Letters are coming in now by the hundreds. I wish I could write you all personally and thank you for letting me know that my work is bringing such splendid results. But you can see that that would be well impossible to do and have time for any other work.

So you will excuse me. I know. Please do not think that I do not appreciate every letter I have received. Every one makes me happy and makes me more eager to go on with the work.

Each one of you is now an example of what can be done, and you are going to be teachers to help in the work of life-saving. I do not use too strong language when I say this, for it is literally true.

Will you remember that the rule of the column is that I cannot prescribe for individuals, that only problems that are of general interest can be discussed in this column, and that I cannot write individual letters?

I cannot make diagnoses for you. This is difficult enough for a physician when he can make a physical examination and get a full history. You must go to your own physician for diagnoses. And, remember, my aim is not the treatment of disease, but the prevention of disease and the promotion of health. That, of course, is the aid of all physicians, but, until the time when there is much more enlightenment, treatment is necessary.

I don't mind your writing to me your troubles, for oftentimes I can get material for the column from them. But you will have to watch the column for the answers if they can be answered, and please remember that it may take some time before it appears. And if I have taken up the subject recently, it will be still longer. Personally, I wish I could write on subjects pertaining to nutrition and to babies and children alone, for those subjects undoubtedly are what the great majority are most interested in. However, we must at times help the minority.

To those of you who have written in for ten or twelve of the pamphlets to distribute to your friends—we can't do that! Have your friends write in for them themselves. Twelve letters to every one going through the office makes the editor know our column is indispensable and he will raise our salary when we strike him for it. You can see the wisdom in that, I am sure, for you love me. Didn't I say it? And, gosh, I love every one of you. After reading this morning's mail I love the whole world.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Is exercise in middle life harmful?

No, just as beneficial and necessary as at any other time. Begin gradually and increase slowly until you can do the regular setting-up exercises with vim, vigor and verve.

Should all starchy foods be toasted when one has acid stomach?

From your letter I see you are overweight. You won't have acid stomach if you eat in moderation and chew thoroughly. Eat very little starchy food while reducing. Toasting bread dextrinizes the starch and does make it more easily digested. It is just as fattening one way as the other. To those who say they eat no bread at all, only toast, this will startle.

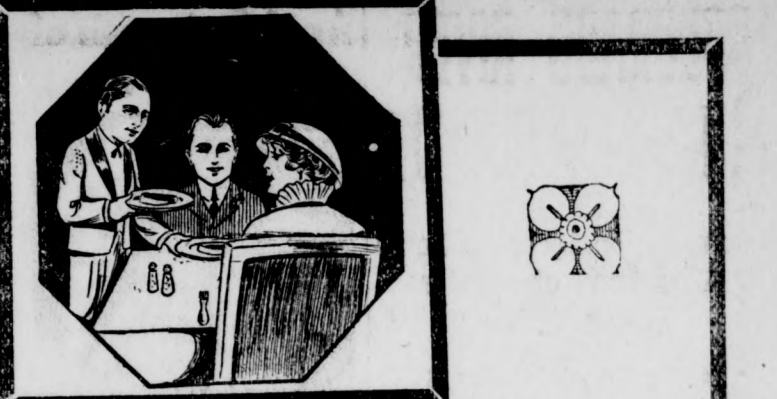

Breaking Tobacco Habit

There are some methods which I will look up and write about later. However, the most efficacious way is to just stop. It can be done. I know a gentleman, rather well, I fancy, having lived with him for so many years that I have stopped telling how long we have been matrimonially entangled—who quits smoking suddenly and goes months at a time without tobacco, seemingly without any trouble. I haven't noticed that he is any meaner at those times than usual. (Gosh, when he sees this!)

Are operations for cross eyes good?

There are some crossed eyes that nothing but an operation will remedy. When the eye muscles are permanently affected an operation is indicated. It is not so awfully serious. See your eye specialist.

COLORADO RIVER PROBLEM SETTLED

Commission Agrees to Equal
Allocation of Water;
Details Lacking

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 18.—The Colorado river commission today started on the work of consolidating its "agreement in principle" to an equitable division of the waters of the Colorado river reached late yesterday after several days of executive sessions in Bishop's Lodge, just outside this city. Official announcement was made by the commission that a "fifty-fifty" allocation of the waters of the river between the four upper basin states—Colorado, Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico—and three states bordering the lower reaches of the great stream—Arizona, Nevada and California—would form a basis for the interstate treaty that must be ratified by the legislatures of the states involved and by the United States congress.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, chairman of the commission, in his announcement did not describe in detail the agreement reached, but said that a definite allotment of equal amounts of the river's flow had been agreed upon between the two divisions of the states and that provision had been made for further conferences in the future when newly arising conditions would call for use of the unallotted waters.

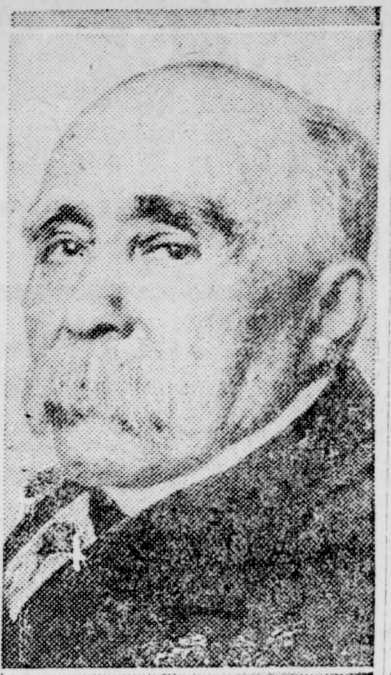

Preference in the use of the waters is to be given to agriculture, and none of the existing rights in the basin will be disturbed, it was announced.

Will Protect Imperial Valley

The commission has agreed upon the extreme urgency for the immediate erection of flood control works to protect the Imperial valley of California, evidence before the commission showing that the situation in the valley has become much more acute during the past month due to the partial failure of the Pescadero cut to assure the hoped-for temporary relief from the danger of a renewed break of the Colorado river into the Salton sea.

Members of the commission appeared gratified over the successful issue of the unique proceedings here which have resulted in the drawing up of a treaty between seven states for the amicable settlement of long-standing water rights disputes and which

Father Judges Son; Latter Gets Whip

CINCINNATI — A 12-year-old boy who turned in a fire alarm the other day for the sake of some excitement got a lot more than he had planned for when a policeman chased him to his home. The boy's father heard the policeman's story and then declared his ability to handle the case alone. The policeman listened for a while to sounds emanating from the woodshed and then reported that the "case was closed satisfactorily."

promises to substitute a constitutional method of reaching peaceful agreements for the infinitely prolonged, and costly litigation which has arrested the development of the Colorado river and its tributaries.

The river, having its source in Colorado, runs for more than a thousand miles through the seven states involved in the water rights controversy and crosses the international border into old Mexico.

NEW FORD MODELS BEST EVER, CLAIM

Late Equipment on Cars Cost
Ford Company Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars

"Some idea of the results obtained by the Ford company in spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually in making improvements on Ford cars is realized when one inspects any one of the new Ford models."

This statement was made yesterday by Clair R. D'Arge, sales manager with Jesse H. Smith, Glendale Ford distributor. "No one can appreciate the time and money saving improvements that are added to Ford cars year by year," he said.

"The new models for example, which have been greatly improved over the old ones, are equipped with apparatus that cost the Ford company thousands of dollars in its pursuit to turn out a cheaper car but a better one."

Some of the new equipment in question that is considered by Mr. D'Arge to be the most wonderful auto apparatus turned out by the Ford plant include redesigned connecting rods and pistons, which are now made of chambered—a new feature which prevents oil pass and which adds greater power to the motor.

A new fan assembly provides larger diameter pulleys, which prevents slippage. It adds also to the life of the belt.

A new and much improved headlight lens and bulb are also equipped on the new models. The new lens gives a wonderful light, is non-glare, and when used with Ford H-type bulbs, conforms with all state laws.

The new type muffler used is approved by engineers of fire insurance underwriters.

Mr. D'Arge, who recently arrived in Glendale direct from the Ford factory in Detroit, says that the Fords produced this year are by far the most perfect of any ever manufactured by the Ford company.

Carriages fitted out in silk, velvet and leather, with ivory and nickel fittings, costing at one time $15,000, were auctioned off in Knoxville, Tennessee, recently, for $20. The carriages once belonged to Tim Sullivan, Anthony J. Drexel and other distinguished citizens. Several horses sold for from $5 to $51 each.

RACERS TUNE UP FOR BIG CONTEST

Beverly Bowl to Be Scene of Great Auto Battle on Thanksgiving Day

Awake and alive to the fact that Thanksgiving Day, with its 250-mile championship race that closes the racing season, is drawing close and fast, Beverly bowl has the roar of the racing motor to accompany its every movement.

One speed chariot would create a roar; but there are five of these. They are the newest on the track, under the guiding wing of Cliff Durant, and they're crashing into the spotlight of national prominence through some of the fastest and most sensational practice stunts that the "railbirds" who have practice passes to flash have ever witnessed.

You can't doubt for a minute that it's going to be a thirty-seven second race after watching these canary yellow streaks flashing over the start and finish lines that mark the mile and a quarter lap, and thirty-seven seconds is a hundred and twenty miles an hour and better. It is a proud boast that any of the new Durant Specials are good for thirty-seven seconds and better. It will force the hands of the best of them in setting up the highest average ever recorded on the Beverly bowl November 30.

Out to Make Mark

It was not a day after the five man Durant team was completed, with the addition of Earl Cooper and Art Klein, until they were all trying their new cars on the track. The other three are equally well known. Jimmy Murphy, uncrowned speed king of the 1922 season, "Foxy Grandpa" Eddie Hearne, consistent and level-headed enough to have gained the speed title for 1920, and the darling millionaire sportsman himself, Cliff Durant.

They're driving some of the fastest and most powerful racing cars ever built under the Durant banner, and not a one of them but can take a car through its most sensational race to victory. To talk with any of them, is to be a backer for Durant, and to wonder where they're going to get their competition.

Others on the track furnish the answer, though. If a Durant Special gets the first checkered flag, whether it's Cooper, Klein,

Hamlin & Hepburn's Property In Demand

Following the single announcement in The Glendale News of the advance sale of lots in the eleventh unit, over half of the lots are already sold, twelve having been sold in a single day. This, in itself, speaks for the popularity of the property which Hamlin & Hepburn are offering in the northwest section of Glendale, where such rapid development is taking place and where values are increasing with miraculous rapidity.

The eleventh unit borders Kenneth road, the new boulevard for which contracts have already been let and is directly west of Allen avenue, formerly Laurel avenue, which is a main street from the floor of the valley up to the mountains.

A year ago even the most enthusiastic would hardly have predicted the enormous growth which has actually taken place in this section. Its popularity is doubtless due to its beautiful location and the reasonable prices and exceptionally low terms on which the property is offered, enabling people to get a home started with a lower investment than any other place in Glendale.

Hamlin & Hepburn have always maintained that they are rendering a distinct service to worthy people by selling on low terms and permitting temporary homes of neat construction to be built on the rear of the lot until better ones can be constructed.

Nobody yet realizes the enhancement in values which will follow the opening of Kenneth road as a paved boulevard and the further fact that so few lots remain unsold in this beautiful section.

Throw Out Clutch Going Over Bumps

Throw out the clutch when about to go over a bump in the road. It is surprising how much easier the car rides when this is done. The car merely coasts over instead of being driven, and so the shock is reduced. If there is room, it is well to approach such obstructions at an angle; then only one wheel strikes it at a time, and the shock is still further reduced.

Murphy, Hearne, or Durant, as first to finish, they will have won a real race. They'll sure have set a record for themselves.

CHEVROLETS SALE SETTING RECORD

Thirty-Six Have Been Sold to Date This Month by
C. L. Smith

During the first seventeen days of this month more than an average of two Chevrolet cars a day has been sold by C. L. Smith, Glendale agent for the Chevrolet auto, according to a statement made yesterday by Mr. Smith. The total number of cars sold was thirty-six.

And the number of sales that he is making, Mr. Smith says, reflects, to a certain extent, the number of Chevrolets that are being sold throughout the United States. He produced the following figures to bear out his statement:

The Chevrolet Motor Company during the first six months of this year established a new high record for deliveries of cars. The period in question was one of the most successful ever experienced in the history of the sales division of the General Motors Corporation.

Deliveries from the factories in the first half of this year were 183 per cent of the total deliveries made during all of 1921, and one-third greater than during the first six months of 1920, which was heretofore the banner year with Chevrolet and the whole automobile industry.

"June of this year not only exceeded any other month of the year, but also brought 198 per cent of sales registered in June, 1920, and nearly three times as much business as did June of 1921."

"Today Chevrolet holds the position of manufacturing the world's lowest priced, quality automobiles."

Here's Test That Shows Good Brakes

Each brake should be able to stop the car correctly under the following figures:

25 miles per hour.....	57 feet

Million Car Output By Ford for 1922

"That the output of the Ford Motor company's plants for 1922 will be in excess of 1,000,000 cars by a large figure, is forecast in a review of statistics recently compiled," is the statement contained in a message just received by Jesse Smith, Ford dealer in Glendale, from the Detroit factory.

"This year has featured a consistent increase in monthly outputs," this report goes on to say. "Like 1921, the summer months saw old triumphs fade, and new achievements gained, until today statistics show that the output is sufficiently in advance of that of the same date in 1921 to predict that with the year's close, the company's plants will have realized their aim of making 1922 the greatest Ford year."

"The record of production showed 925,325 Ford cars and trucks built this year to October 1, and it is expected that the output for October, November and December will average around the 100,000-per-month mark."

The $15,000 bond of William D. Haywood, convicted I. W. W. leader, has been ordered forfeited and deputies ordered to collect the bonds. Haywood fled to Russia and has never returned.

The Mucker Sees a New Light. Together the girl and the mucker approached the entrance to the amphitheatre. From behind a shoulder of rock they peered down into the forest below them. For several minutes neither saw any cause for alarm. "I guess you're just a bear," said the girl, "and I see them again. Look! Quick! Down there—to the right."

Byrne looked in the direction she indicated. "Chinks," he commented. "Gee! Look at 'em comin'." There must be a hundred of 'em.

He turned a rueful glance back into the amphitheatre. "I dunno as dis place looks as good to me as it did," he remarked. "Dose yaps wid de toad stabbers could hike up on top of dese cliffs an' wit it a case o' 'thence by carriages to Calvary' for ours in about two shakes."

"Yes," said the girl, "I'm afraid it's a regular canteen here."

"I dunno nothin' about dat," replied the mucker, "but I do know dat if we wants to get out o' here we gotta get a hump on ourselves good an' lively. Come ahead, and with his words he ran quickly through the entrance, and turning squarely toward the right skirted the perpendicular cliffs that extended as far as they could see to be lost to view in the forest that ran up to meet them from below.

The trees and underbrush hid them from the head-hunters. There had been danger of detection but for the brief instant that they passed through the entrance of the hollow, but at the time they had chosen the enemy had been hidden in a clump of thick brush far down the slope.

For hours the two fugitives continued their flight, passing over the crest of a ridge and downward toward another valley, until by a small brook they paused to rest, hopeful that they had entirely eluded their pursuers.

Again Byrne fished, and again they sat together at a one-course meal. As they ate the man found himself looking at the girl more and more often. At length the girl became nervous, and then, as if by magic, she was it coming so soon?

The man had talked but little during this meal, and for the life of her Barbara Harding could not think of any topic with which to distract his attention from his thoughts.

"Hain't we better be moving on?" she asked at last.

Byrne gave a little start as she surprised in some questionable act.

"I suppose so," he said; "this ain't no place to spend the night—it's too open. We gotta find a sort o' hiding place if we can, dat a fello kin barricade with some-things."

Again they took up their seemingly hopeless march—an aimless wandering in search of they knew not what. Away from one danger to possible dangers many fold more terrible. Barbara's heart was very heavy, for again she feared and mistrusted the mucker.

They followed down the little brook now to where it emptied into a river and then down the valley beside the river which grew wider and more turbulent with every mile. Well past mid-afternoon they came opposite a small, rocky island, and as Byrne's eyes fell upon it an exclamation of gratification burst from his lips.

"Jest de place!" he cried. "We oder be able to hide dere forever."

"But how are we to get there?" asked the girl, looking fearfully at the turbulent river.

"It ain't deep," Byrne assured her. "Come ahead. I'll carry you across," and without waiting for a reply he gathered her in his arms and started down the bank.

What with the thoughts that had occupied his mind off and on during the afternoon the sudden and close contact of the girl's warm young body close to his took Billy Byrne's breath away, and the hot blood coursing thru his veins. It was with the utmost difficulty that he restrained a mad desire to crush her to him and cover her face with kisses.

And then the fatal thought came to him—why should he restrain himself? What was this girl to him? Had he not always hated her and her kind? Did she not look with loathing and contempt upon him? And to whom did her life belong anyway but to him—had he not saved it twice? What difference would it make? They'd never come out of this savage world alive, and if he didn't take her some monkey-faced Chink would get her.

They were in the middle of the stream now. Byrne's arms already had commenced to tighten upon the girl. With a sudden tug he strove to pull both hands upon his shoulders and held his lips at arm's length. And her wide eyes looked full into the glowing gray ones of the mucker. And each saw in the other's something that

ENGLAND IS HIT BY U. S. TARIFF

Strong Campaign Against High Import Taxes Is Launched in Europe

LONDON—British trade circles are now anxiously waiting for the next American Presidential election.

The new American tariff law has struck a hard blow at British trade, and the only hope held forth is that the next Presidential election will upset this law.

A campaign of education for the American public may be launched from England. Manufacturers here may take it upon themselves to show Americans the errors of their tariff ways.

The steel industry in England has probably been hit hardest by the new tariff law. Since the new law became operative, new orders have been extremely scarce for high-speed crucible steels for export to the United States.

The Nottingham lace market has slumped since the passage of the law, and it seems certain that the American market will be as effectively closed to Nottingham as is the French market.

There's words came back to him: "Good-bye, Byrne; take good care of Miss Harding," and his admission to Theriere during that last conversation with the dying man: "A week ago I guess I was a coward. Dere seems to be more'n one kind o' nerve—I'm just a learnin' of the right kind."

He had been standing with eyes upon the ground, his heavy hand still gripping the girl's arm. She was waiting there, her great eyes upon his filled with fear and questioning, like a prisoner before the bar awaiting the sentence of her judge.

As the man looked at Barbara Harding standing there before him he saw her in a strange new light, and a sudden realization of the truth flashed upon him. He saw that he could not harm her now, or ever, for he loved her!

And with the awakening there came to Billy Byrne the withering, numbing knowledge that his love must forever be a hopeless one—that this girl of his privacy could never be for such as he.

Barbara Harding, still looking questioningly at him, saw the change that came across his countenance—she saw the swift pain that shot to the man's eyes, and she wondered. His fingers relaxed their grasp upon her arm. His hands fell limply to his sides.

"Don't be afraid," he said. "please don't be afraid o' me. I couldn't hurt youse if I tried."

A deep sigh of relief burst from the girl's lips—relief and joy; and she realized that its cause was as much that the man had proved true to the new estimate she had recently placed upon him as that the danger to herself had passed.

"We'd better move in a bit out o' sight o' de mainland, an' look fer place to make camp. I reckon we'd oder rest here for a few days till we git in shape ag'in. I know youse must be dead beat, an' I sure am, all right, all right."

Together they sought a favorable site for their new home, and it was as though the horrid specter of a few moments before had never risen to menace them, for the girl felt that a great burden of apprehension had been lifted from her shoulders, and though a dull ache gnawed at the mucker's heart, still he was happier than he had ever been before—happy in the knowledge of his new-found strength and character—happy to be near the woman he loved.

With the long sword of Oda Yemoto, Billy Byrne cut saplings and bamboo and the fronds of fan palms, and with long tough grasses bound them together into the semblance of a rude hut. Barbara gathered leaves and grasses with which she covered the floor.

"Number One, Riverside Drive," said the mucker, with a grin, when the work was completed; "an' now I'll go on down de river an' build de Bowersy."

"Oh, are you from New York?" asked the girl.

"Not on yer life," replied Billy Byrne. "I'm from good ol' Chi; but I been to Noo York twict wit de Goose Island Kid, an' so I know, all about it. De rough-locks belongs on de Bowersy, so dat's wot we'll call my dump down de river. You're a high-brow, so youse gotta live on Riverside Drive, see?" and the mucker laughed at his little pleasantry. (To Be Continued)

German Emissaries Will Adjust Claims

The German members of the American-German claims commission have arrived in Washington.

That there is a campaign in progress against this tariff law is easily suspected. Incoming ships are met at British ports by energetic reporters, who gather views of Americans on the new tariff law.

Hosts of interviews criticizing the tariff are printed in the British press, but thus far no interviews have been published setting forth the value of the law. It is probable that a strong organization has already been created to work against this American law, and undoubtedly America will sense the activity of such an organization within a few months.

Production and shipments of lumber generally increased in August while stocks, as a rule declined, says the department of commerce. Exports of lumber increased slightly. Production and shipments of maple flooring also showed a good increase and a decline in stocks.

Face brick production, shipments, unfilled orders and stocks all underwent a decline. Prices of common brick decreased but the cost index for constructing both frame and brick houses rose considerably in August.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

TWIN TELEPHONE ADAPTER

How troublesome and unsatisfactory it is to pass one set of telephones around so that more than one person can listen in. Oftentimes a receiving outfit is provided with only one jack, and in such cases the adapter illustrated will accommodate two plugs of the same design, also illustrated. In this way two pairs of phones, or one pair of phones and a loud speaker, can be plugged in together. This receiver can be tuned with the phones and the loud speaker plugged in at will. These plugs are handsomely finished and will grace the most fastidiously finished equipment.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

RADIO FREQUENCY GENERATORS.

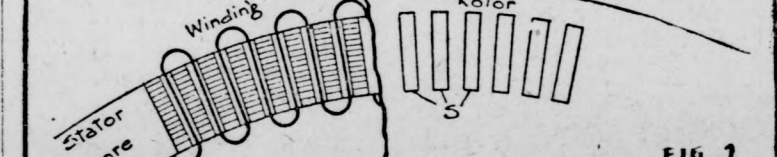

As pointed out in the flummiedly preceding article, frequencies as high as 100,000 cycles per second have been secured by a special form of generator of the inductor type. This machine was developed by E. F. W. Alexanderson of the General Electric company and now associated with the Radio Corporation of America, who are using these alternators in their transoceanic service.

It can be seen at once that 100,000 inductor teeth have to pass a given point every second. This extraordinary number can be obtained only by having a great many teeth on the rotor and driving it at an unusually high velocity.

In a two-kilowatt generator the rotor has 300 inductors and makes 20,000 revolutions per minute, which gives the required 6,000,000 inductors per minute. With the rotor about 30 cm. (1 ft.) in diameter this allows .3 cm. (1/8 inch) for each slot and tooth together, and even then the rotor travels something like 19 km. (12 miles) a minute. The armature conductors are laid zigzag in little slots in the flat face of the core, this face being perpendicular to the shaft. See Fig. 1.

The rotor consists of a steel disk with thin rim and a much thicker hub, shaped for maximum strength. Instead of having teeth on the edge, it is slotted with little windows, the inductors in the form of spokes, leaving a solid rim of steel. Then to cut down the air friction the slots are filled with nonmagnetic material such as phosphor bronze finished as smoothly with the face of the disc. These machines embody a number of novel features made necessary by the small space per inductor and the exceptional speed. Their construction became possible only through the engineering skill of a very high order and by fine workmanship. They are not suitable for ordinary radio work and their usefulness is entirely in the field in which they are now being used as already stated, for long distance, high powered commercial use. For that reason a detailed description is not intended.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S RUBBER BOOTS

"Where's Uncle Wiggily?" asked Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman, as he knocked on the door of the bunny gentleman's hollow stump bungalow one day. "Where's Uncle Wiggily, Nurse Jane?"

"Oh, I suppose he is out adventuring," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "He's nearly always doing that," she added with a laugh. "Did you want him for anything special, Mr. Whitewash?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Well, yes, in a way," slowly answered the polar bear gentleman. "My friend, Jack Frost, just stopped in at my ice factory. He'll be sure to have to go to the way from the North Pole."

"How did Jack Frost know that?" Nurse Jane inquired.

"Oh, I suppose Santa Claus told him," answered Mr. Whitewash. "Or again, Jack Frost may have heard him from the North Wind. But, however, no matter for that, what I came to tell Uncle Wiggily is to get ready for a big snow storm."

"I'll tell him what you said," promised Nurse Jane. "I suppose you want Uncle Wiggily to get ready to make snowballs and snow men for the animal children," went on the muskrat lady.

"Well, yes, that, and then also to get his rubber boots ready," said the polar bear. "Uncle Wiggily won't be sure to want to go adventuring when the snow comes, so he had better see to it that his rubber boots don't leak."

"I'll tell him that, too," said Nurse Jane. "It is very kind of you, Mr. Whitewash, to stop and remind Uncle Wiggily about his boots. He'll be home soon, and after he gets his boots ready he'll come over and thank you, I'm sure."

"Pray, don't mention it," said Mr. Whitewash, with a low and polite bow. "I am going back to my ice cave to get my snowshoes out of the back closet. Tell Uncle Wiggily I'll see him later."

Nurse Jane said she would, and soon after the polar bear gentleman had shuffled off to his cave, Uncle Wiggily reached his hollow stump bungalow.

"Did you have any adventures?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Not one," sadly answered the rabbit uncle.

"Well, get your rubber boots out of the attic and prepare for snow," advised the muskrat lady, telling the bunny what Mr. Whitewash had said.

"Oh, to be sure! My rubber boots!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I haven't seen them since spring. They must be very dusty, having been asleep in the attic all summer. I'll bring them down, and try them on. I may have to get a new pair."

From the dusty and cobwebby attic Uncle Wiggily brought down his big rubber boots. Nurse Jane made him dust them off in the woodshed. Then the bunny brought them in to try them on.

"These boots are all right," said Nurse Jane, looking at them from the outside. "You won't need to get a new pair."

"No, not if they fit me," said Uncle Wiggily. "But oh, look!" he suddenly cried, pointing at the rubber boots. "They have big holes in them!"

"Big holes!" They have not! The idea!" exclaimed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

Despite the small army of imitators that have followed hard upon the success of George Ade, he undoubtedly holds the field alone when it comes to subject-matter and witty expression.

His latest book, "Single Blessedness and Other Observations," is a compilation of essays, written not in his slangy style, but in the key of his more sober humor. Herein Ade discusses, with undisguised relish, his success in avoiding the ring, the hook and the halter, and his longing over his married friends—men and women alike—must cause them to grind their teeth in fury.

Also, he takes up the matter of our younger generation: "Our Eighteen-Year-Old Rouses and Nineteen-Year-Old Vamps"; he discusses the agonies of the motor tour; he sets forth the torments endured by helpless listeners in the company of a persistent over the relative merits of two cities or singers, so individual that they might as well be comparing Baltimore oysters to Cambridge cheese. Incidentally he lays a fragrant wreath upon the altar of home cooking—a sop, perhaps, to those married ladies to whom the author's persistent bachelorhood is as a thorn under the thumb nail.

John Drinkwater, whose play "Abraham Lincoln," has almost overshadowed his many fine previous contributions to literature and playwriting, has just issued, through Houghton, Mifflin & Co., a well-selected anthology of verse and poetry for young readers.

Beginning with the jingly verse of Mother Goose and her ancient and venerable contemporaries, the contents progress in weight until, at the end of the book, Drinkwater has included such fine and stirring poems as "Drake's Drums" and "A Wet Sheet and a Flowing Sail," and Rupert Brooke's "The Soldier."

The contents of this volume have been chosen with a skill and discrimination not common to an-

Mock Trial Is Held by American Legion

A mock trial was the feature of last night's session of post No. 127 of the American Legion.

The defendant was Harley G. Preston, salesman for the Ivanhoe Realty company. He was listed in the complaint as "alias Reverend Preston, alias Ivanhoe Preston, alias Charlie Chaplin Preston." In order that he might not leave the prisoner's dock before the court-martial was over, he was securely handcuffed to the dock.

Five counts were filed against Mr. Preston. The first charged him with acting as a "toreador" in attempting to sell real estate. The second blamed him for trying to obtain money under false pretense by trying to sell real estate which he did not own. The third criticized him for unbecoming conduct in church. The fourth charged him with disorderly conduct in attempting to sell by force property to a member of the post. The fifth count criticized him for neglecting him from the meetings and abandoning his post as chaplain when he knew that no other comrade could take his place.

The complaint, which was prepared in legal form, was subscribed and sworn to before "Joe Bunkum, Notorious Republican, whose commission will expire March, 1924."

Mr. Preston was charged with asserting that "the Ivanhoe hills are in the heart of Los Angeles," when he knows very well that Los Angeles has no heart.

The jury was composed of R. C. Plume, Earl Kiefer, Mitchell Frug, Jesse Flower, Clarence Edwards, Joe Wilson and Wilbur Lee.

Complaining witnesses were Attorney James L. McBryde, Attorney Eugene Wix, all of 111 E. Broadway, who based the case upon a sight of Mr. Preston in action while they were passing through the Ivanhoe tract.

Charles B. Guthrie announced the verdict. Mr. Preston was required to be present at every Legion meeting for a year, as heart pain, he was presented with $5 for a birthday present for his daughter, Virginia.

Two Chicago Fires Cause $200,000 Loss

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Two spectacular fires broke out in Chicago early this morning.

One swept Armour & company's hog-killing factory in the stock yards, causing damage estimated at $150,000.

The other partially burned two buildings in the manufacturing district, downtown, entailing a loss of $50,000.

A large deposit of a volcanic ash, suitable to manufacture cleaning compounds, has been found in British Columbia. Experiments prove that it can be used to polish gold and silver plate.

FRENCH CONSUL TALKS AT CLUB

Attitude of Germany in the Payment of War Debts
Unfair, Claim

gle penny of tribute. She has asked only payments for reparation for the wanton destruction of ten of her richest departments. In 1870 Germany exacted from France a war indemnity of five billions gold francs, ravished Alsace and Lorraine and, until the gold payments were made under the terms of the Treaty of Frankfurt, a treaty which was fulfilled to the letter by France, Germany demanded financial guarantees and occupied besides forty-five of her departments.

"The German government has just passed a bill under the terms of which it sets aside from tax money the sum of twenty-nine billion marks for reparations. For what reparations—French or Belgian? Oh no, that would be too good! For what purpose then? Why, just to indemnify its own subjects for losses of various kinds suffered by them during the war. It has already paid eleven billion marks to the stockholders of different navigation companies, German, of course. The Germans are great exponents of the theory of 'Primo Mili-Me First'.

"France has rebuilt thousands of miles of railroads, hundreds of bridges, hundreds of stations, thousands of public buildings, schools, factories and homes, has cleared thousands upon thousands of acres of land, has filled this must be paid for and France is paying for it while Germany looks on.

"Speaking of trenches, I shall never forget the works known as the Hindenburg line, which stretch for miles in either direction just east of Rheims. Imagine a row of ditches about six feet deep and three feet wide every ten feet and that for a width of several miles. That will give you an idea of things. France is busy, in the factory, in the fields, everywhere. And I predict that she will come out of this terrible situation gloriously within a few years.

"Just a word about French militarism. There seems to be an impression, created mostly by German propaganda, that France is going about the world with a chip on its shoulder. Let us see what the true facts are.

"We are now spending eight per cent less money for the war and navy department than before the war while several other nations have increased their military expenses.

"At the close of the war, we had under arms practically every able-bodied man who was not needed in other departments, say about three million men. Within a few months we had reduced our army to about 900,000 men. Today their number has been reduced to less than 600,000, which includes the army of occupation of 100,000 and the 50,000 men now in Syria.

"The time of service, which is compulsory under the French law, has been reduced from seven years' time in the latter 70's to five years, then to two years, and now it has been reduced to eighteen months. It will be shortly reduced to one year.

"France maintains for America that traditional friendship, which had its beginning at the time of the War of Independence. France understands perfectly well the traditional and benevolent attitude of America towards European nations. And she feels, insofar as she herself is concerned, America will always be found on her side, if she is unjustly attacked, even in the absence of any treaty or alliance."

BROTHERHOOD HAS LARGE MEETING

Rev. Henry Irving Rasmus Is
Speaker at Gathering
Held Last Night

made by Dr. Henry Irving Rasmus, pastor of the First Methodist church.

"There are unmistakable signs of a great church," he declared. "That church must have character. Do you want to make your church great in the City of Glendale? Then do something great for the Mighty Master. The church that wants to be great in any community must have the character of Jesus Christ.

"Moreover, a church must be militant. I think that one of the finest things is a fighting church. Now don't misunderstand me. I don't mean a war department in the choir or bell tower in the official board. But there is a belligerency that is necessary in this world of ours. I need not say that there are forces in this world that are eternally antagonistic. There are forces that must die or the human race will die.

"What is the use of doing a little task when you can do something big? What is the use of doing a little thing if it is possible to do a mighty thing?"

Watching Fishermen
Dr. Rasmus reported that he had spent thirty-three minutes on the pier at Long Beach not long ago waiting for fifty-three fishermen to get one nibble—and then it was only a nibble. He said that at that rate a whale would be immune for a thousand years. He said, however, that he would rather spend a thousand years catching one leviathan than half an hour catching sardines.

"I don't know of anything bigger than the universe in which we live or the times in which we live or the church to which we belong," he remarked. "If you were to ask me about the times in which we live I would say that they are the biggest times in all history. This is an age of faith; an age of incredulity. It is a season of light, it is a season of darkness. It is the morning of hope; it is the winter of despair. We have everything before us. With that statement producing a paradox this is the biggest age in which any man or woman ever lived."

necessities and a large burglar-proof safe and a fire-proof safe have also been installed.

It is an ideal location, and, while not considered permanent, it is stated by Mr. Lee that the bank will undoubtedly occupy it for a year at least. According to Mr. Lee it is the intention of the founders to build a bank building, but that will probably not be done until the southern section of the city and the bank business have grown to large magnitude.

First-day depositors received as souvenirs special silver Artpoint medals and the first depositor was presented with a gold medal.

The bank opened its doors at 9 o'clock this morning and will continue to receive guests until 9 o'clock tonight and an invitation was issued this noon by President Lee to all Glendadians to drop in if but for a five-minute call.

Annie MacSwiney Is on Hunger Strike

DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—Crouching at the gate of Mountjoy prison, a child at her side, Annie MacSwiney of Cork, who is on hunger strike today, which she declared, would continue until her sister, Mary MacSwiney, is released from the jail.

Mary today entered the fourteenth day of her own hunger strike. She has refused to eat since she was arrested during a raid by free state soldiers, upon a republican irregular council war in this city on November 4.

Upon her arrival from Cork, accompanied by the child, Annie MacSwiney went at once to the prison where she requested permission to see her sister. The prison authorities refused.

"If you don't let me see Mary I will starve myself to death at the prison gates," declared Annie MacSwiney. The wardens expressed regret, but said they were under orders not to allow any one to see Mary MacSwiney.

Annie then took up her position in the front of the jail entrance. "I will remain here until my sister is released or will die with her," declared Annie MacSwiney to an International News Service representative.

Mary MacSwiney was reported in a weakened condition and to be suffering from pains in the back. She has been transferred to a more comfortable ward.

Mary MacSwiney threatened to "kill herself like her brother Terence" unless she was released. Her brother starved himself to death in Brixton jail in London two years ago after being arrested at Cork on account of his Sinn Fein activities.

SOUTHLAND GREAT REVENUE CENTER

Some 'Wonder Figures' Will Be Submitted From Los Angeles District

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell left for Washington yesterday to discuss with Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair plans for the removal of the revenue offices to the entire second floor of the Federal building and to urge upon treasury officials the necessity for increases in the working force of the Los Angeles office due to the fact that the Los Angeles district has become one of the great revenue-producing centers of the United States.

In support of his request, Collector Goodcell will lay before Commissioner Blair the so-called "California wonder figures," which graphically tell the story of Southern California's remarkable business growth. Here are some of the wonder figures' the collector will submit.

That the Los Angeles district leads every Internal Revenue district in the United States, barring North Carolina, in percentage of collections in 1922 as compared with 1921. North Carolina depends upon cigarette factories for about 64 per cent of its taxes and therefore its percentage of collections does not reflect active business conditions.

Shows Great Gain
That in 1922 the Los Angeles office collected $49,966,320.85 as against $2,503,446.97 in 1915, a gain of 2000 per cent in seven years.

That the income tax collection in 1922 was $35,821,215.47 compared with $1,011,525.97 in 1915, a gain of 3500 per cent in seven years.

That the theatre admission tax collections in 1922 was $2,587,621.22 as against $582,606.52 in 1918, a gain of 400 per cent in four years.

That 190,930 separate income tax returns were filed in 1922 compared with 156,524 in 1921, a gain of 34,399. In 1921 one person in every eight in the district filed a return and applying this ratio the increase in the number of returns calls for a growth in population of 275,192.

That federal tax was paid in 1922 on capital stock of an actual value of $1,450,018,000 amounting to $1,415,153 as against tax receipts of $1,106,000 in 1921.

That theatre admission tax receipts indicate that the paid admissions to Southern California theatres during 1922 will show a total attendance of approximately 108,000,000, which is almost the population of the United States.

That in 1921 and 1922 the Los Angeles district's collections for manufacturers' excise taxes exceeded those of the San Francisco district. In 1921, Los Angeles $1,602,476, San Francisco $1,067,798, and in 1922, Los Angeles $1,289,096, San Francisco $554,594. No film tax figures in these totals.

That facing a tax loss of almost $9,000,000 for 1922, due to reductions in tax rates by the new revenue bill, the income tax receipts of the Los Angeles office for October, 1922, were approximately the same as for October, 1921.

That in October, 1922, manufacturers' tax collections on oleomargarine doubled over last October, documentary stamps increased 12 per cent; telephone and telegraph messages 15 per cent; special theatre taxes 65 per cent; cabaret admission taxes 20 per cent; club dues 25 per cent and auto-for-hire taxes 50 per cent.

That California corporations and individuals reported more income and paid tax on it, than the combined income reported by the twelve big western states, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

That California's total gross corporation and personal income reported was $4,556,000,000, which was greater than the combined income reported by the group of twelve western states.

That California's paid personal income tax of $50,447,000 as against $50,600,000 paid by the twelve western states with South Dakota and Kansas added.

That California corporations paid an income tax of $59,574,000, which was greater than the combined tax of $51,317,000 paid by thirteen big western states.

That California paid $135,000,000 in internal revenue taxes in 1922, which is more than one-third the total amount the new tariff bill is expected to produce for the entire United States.

Louis Ullrich Will Be Married In East

Glendale friends of Louis J. Ullrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Ullrich of 315 North Isabel street will be interested to hear of his departure tomorrow morning on the California limited for the family's former home in Tiffin, Ohio.

Mr. Ullrich's marriage to an Ohio girl will take place shortly after his arrival in Tiffin and he plans to bring his bride to California to reside in Glendale.

During his eight months' residence in Glendale Mr. Ullrich has taken an active part in Knights of Columbus affairs.

More than 1,000 miles a month has been the rate of growth of completed federal-aid roads during the present working season. The mileage completed August 31 totaled 19,308, of which 6,401 miles have been added since the beginning of the year.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR CAKE PLANT

Number of Local Citizens
Hold Informal Meeting on Proposition

That's why I'm against giving it away."

The latter remark evoked a round of laughter and applause from the assemblage. Captain Jackson then took opportunity to remind his listeners that if "we give Glendale to Los Angeles the rest of the world will say that 'the fastest growing city in the world' grew so fast that its citizens couldn't manage it. The world would and could justly accuse us of being inefficient and incompetent."

F. H. Richmond, Pacific Coast manager for A. E. Altin & Co., New York banking corporation, told the assemblage that he made a survey of the Titus Fruit Cake company at the instigation of his parent firm. "I found the latter industry," he declared, "to be a rich proposition, deserving aid, but requiring too small an amount of capital for my firm to handle." He said that the Titus company requires about $60,000 to equip a plant that will be capable of turning out a larger volume of cake.

Indorse Project
Other business men who spoke in favor of the plant, and who highly indorsed Mr. Titus' business ability, were James G. Doyle, financial manager for the Hearst papers on the Pacific coast, and O. C. Reheard, secretary-treasurer for the Neuner corporation of Los Angeles.

Mr. Titus, who was present at the meeting, explained in detail to those attendant the present status and the rare possibilities of his industry. He stated that in a couple of years his plant would be turning out $5,000,000 worth of fruit cake per annum, gross. Net returns on this would amount to $3,000,000, he said.

At the conclusion of the talks a committee of five was appointed by Mr. Rhoades to obtain data and financial statistics covering the status of the Titus company. It includes P. J. Hazelton, Arthur Campbell, Roy Kent, George Karr and D. V. Smith. Just as soon as the information desired is secured a meeting will be called by the Chamber of Commerce.

EQUIP NASH CARS WITH OIL-KIPPS

This Means of Lubrication
Said to Be Appreciated
By All Motorists

Oil-Kipps are now standard equipment on the steering knuckles and tie rods of the Nash Six, according to an announcement made yesterday by E. B. Sutton, general manager of the Glendale Nash Sales, agents for the Nash car.

This is a feature that will be overlooked by no prospective buyer, and it is one of the many good features that go to make up the Nash car, Mr. Sutton said.

"Every prospect who previously has driven an automobile will appreciate instantly the outstanding advantages of the Kipp method of lubrication. Engineers are agreed that oil, in most instances, is far superior to grease as a lubricant. Oil should be used wherever it can be used.

"By merely pumping a Kipp with the palm of the hand, more than 1,000 pounds pressure can be developed. This means lubrication of the steering knuckles and the tie rods that is positive."

Taking the automobile industry as a whole, Mr. Sutton says that business for the month of September, this year, fell off 24 per cent as compared with the month of August. Nash sales, however, he stated, gained 8 per cent in sales during the month of September, as compared with August.

In inviting prospective purchasers to inspect the new model Nash cars, Mr. Sutton says that a casual glance will reveal refinement and improvements undreamed of in all of the new makes which are now on display at the firm's showrooms on South Maryland avenue.

Country Club Is Now Being Formed

The recently-organized Oakmont Country club has just received its permit from the Corporation Commissioner to place its memberships on the market and applications will be received at the offices of the club in the Monarch building. A number of prominent Glendale citizens have already made application for membership, it is stated. The work of clearing the land preparatory to actual construction of the golf course will start about December 1. The foundation for the clubhouse and swimming pool will also be started at that time. The site for the new Country club takes in 109 acres of the finest land obtainable, lying west of Verdugo road, south of Montrose and within the corporate limits of Glendale.

The directors plan to make the Oakmont club very exclusive; the membership will be limited to 600 regular and one hundred and fifty life memberships, each holding proportionate ownership rights with voting and office-holding privileges.

England Asks France to Use Army, Navy

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, is insisting Premier Poincare place the French army and navy at the disposal of the British to support the British in coercive measures if the Turks balk at accepting the allied program in the Near East peace conference, both the Petit Parisien and Echo de Paris stated today.

Today's program of Anglo-French conversations called for a morning meeting of Premier Poincare and Lord Curzon, followed by lunch at the foreign office and another conference during the afternoon.

Both Lord Curzon and Premier Poincare plan to depart for Lausanne Sunday morning.

Liquor Interests to Form Third Party?

St. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Rumors that a third political party may be formed by the liquor interests of the country unless either of the two major parties can force amendment of the Volstead act today added interest in the meeting here of the Association. Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment.

Twenty-eight state branches of the association will be represented in the meeting, which opens Monday, bringing the sentiment from practically the entire nation and the convention will be watched closely for any move in a political direction.

The Glendale

The T. D. & L.

Gareth Hughes in "The Hunch" opens at the Glendale theatre today. This is a George D. Baker production, distributed through Metro. In it the star is given a rollicking, tingling comedy-melodrama, in which, as a young stockbroker, he pretends to have been murdered, in order to gain time for the market to go up. Some of the resultant situations are as serious as they are humorous, and in the end everything is straightened out successfully.

Five varied acts of standard vaudeville complete the program. The headliner is Harry Coleman, with his walking dolls, something altogether novel and different. Others on the boards are versatile Billy Smith in "A Bit of Everything," Mattus and Young in "The Wee Couple," Cully and Clare in "Just a Bit Different," and Hal Hart in a whirlwind single-handed stunt.
